MEETING OF THE D. A. R.

Begin Their Eleventh Annual Conference

AT WILLIAMSPORT.

In Spite of the Miserable Weather their Was a Large Attendance.

MRS ALLEN P. PERLEY PRESIDING

The Eleventh State Conference of the Pennsylvania Daughters of the American Revolution was called to order at the Park Hotel, at 10 o'clock Tuesday by Mrs. Allen P. Perley State Regent of the Pennsylvania D A. R. and a Past Regent of Lycoming Chapter, of Williamsport

Altbough the greater number of the delegates arrived Tuesday morning a fair sprinkling of them had put in an appearance Monday evening and their presence was noticable about the hotel.

The first club night of the Clio club was held Monday evening and to this the visiting ladies were invited. There was nothing formal about it and it served as a means of making such of them as had come early acquainted with the ladies of the club.

In spite of the miserable weather there was a good turn out of ladies and the visiting delegates who were there were made to feel at home and that Williamsport hospitality was not simply a word but an act.

An especial interest in the conference was the presence as the guest of honor of Mrs. Donald McLean, the President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution who was the guest of Mrs. Allen P. Perley, the State Regent, during her stay in this city. Mrs. McLean, is not unknown to the ladies of Lycoming Chapter who have most pleasant recollections of her last visit to the city upon the occasion of the promenade concert.

10 a. m.—Eleventh State conference called to order by the State Regent, Mrs. Allen P. Perley; prayer by the Rev. Elliott C. Armstrong; music, "America;" address of welcome by Mrs. William C. Robison, Vice Regent of Lycoming chapter; response, by the State Regent, Mrs. Allen P. Perley; address by Mrs. Smyzer Williams, Vice State Regent: roll call of chapters; reading of minutes of last conference and rules of State Conference of Pennsylvania, D. A. R; report of State Secretary, Treasurer and Historian.

2 p. m.—Music, report of state committees, "Julia T. Hogg Testimonial," Miss Helen E. C. Overton, chairman; "Fort Augusta," Mrs. Charles Sidler, chairman; "Increasing the Circulation of American Monthly Magazine," Miss Kathryn D. Burrows, chairman; discussion; report on Memorial Continental hall and grounds, Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, chairman.

8 p. m.—Reception by Lycoming chapter, D. A. R., at Park hotel; address by Mrs. Donald McLean, President General, U. S. D. A. R.

10 a. m.—Conference called to order by the State Regent; prayer, by the Rev. W. Northey Jones; music, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," reading of minutes; three minute reports by chapter regents; election of State Conference Secretary and Treasure; discussion of subjects presented by chapters; unfinished business; new business.

2 p. m.—Over the picturesque drives of "Beautiful Williamsport."

Wednesday evening—Reception by Mrs, Allen P. Perley, at Greystone, in honor of Mrs. Donald McLean.

The arrangements for the State Conference have been in the hands of Lycoming Chapter and the several committees have done their work well.

The reception committee, which is looking after the delegates as they arrive, is composed of officers of the Chapter and the pages who will be on duty during the conference are Misses Emily Almy, Margaret Wilson, Elizabeth Hughes, Isabelle Sweeley, Rebecca Foresman, Myra McCormick, Marian Robinson and Margaret Hays,

DISASTROUS FIRE.

The Beautiful Home of Conrad Miller Laid in Ashes.

Saturday morning about 9:30 the shrill whistle at the Electric station announced the burning of Conrad Miller's beautiful home East Linn street. The firemen and citizens responded quickly to the call for help, and in less than ten minutes 200 men and boys were on the scene working earnestly to save the household goods and they were very successful, as everything was saved with the exception of the big range in the kitchen and the bath tub. Everything else in the house was landed safely out of the reach of ravaging flames.

The interior of the large, handsome brick home was entirely gutted. Undoubtedly the FIREMEN who worked very hard to save the property could have kept the flames in the gable end of the house where it originated had they of had the water. For fully twenty minutes after the engine and hose were on the scene of the conflagration, they could not get a bit of water, and of course the flames made great headway. It was a very hard fire to fight and most of the time only one stream of water was playing on the flames.

This was a costly fire and the people who pay their water taxes at this end of the town should raise a kick for the poor protection they have, for if they would have had the necessary force of water this beautiful home could have been saved.

Mr. Miller is out of town, he is transacting business in Bradford, and we were unable to get the amount of his loss. The cost to build the home was $2200 and it is thought that about $1800 insurance is carried on the place. It was insured with the Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

The fire was first noticed by some of the men at Mr. Miller's quarries and they ran as fast as they could to the house and telephone to town for help. It is supposed to have originated in a defective flue from the furnace.

We feel very sorry for Mr. Miller and his family and hope that he will build another home just as pretty as the one destroyed.

A Happy Boy.

Perhaps not within the boarders of the county and possibly of the whole country could you find a happier boy or a more joyous family this week, than that of George G. Fink and his son, Droze, of Martha. The cause is such as to make any family and any boy happy, for after a year, less 11 days, in the Bellefonte hospital. Droze has been discharged as cured of a serious and lingering disease, necrosis of the bone of the leg, from the knee to the ankle. During his stay in the hospital and before he was taken to to the hospital he unerwent a number of operations. It was advised that his limb be amputated, but his parents and physician in attendance saw no necessity for such a course. Through the necrotic action at least a half of the bone of his leg from the knee to the ankle had to be removed, for it was dead, and in its place new bone had to be formed. Such was the care and attention accorded little Droze at the institution that through different processes the new bone grew where the dead one had been, and today he has the free use of his limb, though he must be very careful for some time to come. Mr. Fink although the expense has been great, wishes to express as well as words can express his sincere feeling of gratitude to all the nurses and to the Superintendent of the hospital, as well as to the physician in attendance, for the careful and considerate manner in which his son was treated throughout the year spent there, and declares that in his firm opinion the case, which is an unusual one, could not possibly have been handled better, nor better results obtained in any hospital in the United States.

Droze Fink, the sturdy young boy in the case, is only 9 years of age, and who can express what it means for him to have full use of his limbs through life. Here indeed is one family which feels that the Bellefonte hospital is a God-send to our community, and that it deserves the praise and support of all, as well as it does, for by its care and necessarily painstaking treatment many lives have been saved and persons made for its blessings.

Price of Milk Going Up.

After the 1st of November some of our milkmen will increase the price of milk from 6cts to 8cts. The reason of this is the great cost of feeding the stock. Heretofore the cost of brand and shorts was $12.00 and $14.00 a ton now this cow food has been raised to $27.00 and $32.00 a ton The milkmen claim that unless they get more money for this product that they will discontinue selling the same.

Colonel Edward R. Chambers

Republican Candidate For District Attorney of Centre County.

Colonel E. R. Chambers is the candidate on the Republican ticket for District Attorney of Centre County. He is a strong, clean man, and one of the best criminal lawyers in the State There is no reason why every Republican in the County should not vote for him. He is a graduate of The Pennsylvania State College, and has been very successful in his practice. He has never held any office of any sort or discription in Centre County. W. G. Runkle is a candidate for re-election against Col. Chambers. A man asking re-election must stand or fall upon his own record, and for three years Runkle has held the office and made a record which is a complete failure. He has lost every case of importance unless he has had assistance from other lawyers, and he has shown himself to be utterly incompetent and unable to perform the duties of his office.

Col. Chambers held an office in Harrisburg, and we are informed that he was recognized as one of the shrewdest, and most competent men in the department. During his entire term of office there never was a complaint made against him, and his work and reports were always accepted as final.

We call upon the voters to turn out on election day, and we ask every Republican to vote for him. Don't cut, don't trade, vote straight for Col. E. R. Chambers for District Attorney and you will have a man to represent you who is competent, who is a good lawyer, who is honest, and who is absolutely fearless in doing his duty. Vote for Edward R. Chambers.

STURGER CHARLES DEAD.

A Former Resident of Bellefonte Dies at South Fork

On Friday night or early on Saturday Sturger Charles died at the home of his son Clarence at South Fork.

The exact time and cause of his death was not mentioned in the telegram received by Mrs. Charles McCafferty. The deceased was about 63 years of age and during his life time has traveled almost all over the world. He was with Collins and Shoemaker when they laid their railroad in South America, he has been ship wrecked and fought in many battles, his life throughout has been one of excitement and many experiences.

During the Civil war he served his country faithfully from 61 to 65. He was a member of Company A 131 P. V. I. Others who were comrades of Mr. Charles say he was a brave soldier and was always found at his post of duty. He was a member of the Grand Army Post at Hastings, Pa. He leaves to mourn his death two sons and one daughter, Clarence and William and Mrs. E. A. Josenhans of Allegheny.

Drawing in Our Schools.

The pupils and teachers of the Bellefonte Public Schools are being instructed in drawing this week by Miss Olive Hinman of New York City. For some time Supt. Meyer has been striving to have a regular system of drawing put into the schools and at his suggestion a few months ago the board adopted a full course for the schools and now Miss Hinman is giving the necessary preliminary instruction. She is meeting with the greatest interest and enthusiasm both on the part of the teachers and pupils, and in a reasonable time we have a right to expect our schools to take their place in drawing with schools of similar towns.

Thaw Sells His Right in Old Homestead.

Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, and Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, have deeded their interests in the Thaw homestead adjacent property in the downtown section of Pittsburg to Harry Thaw's brothers and sisters. The documents were prepared in New York on August 16th, and were recorded in Pittsburg Monday.

The consideration named is $120,000. This figure is regarded as merely nominal, and will put at rest the stories regarding the straits to which the Thaw family has been put to pay the enormous bills resulting from Harry's trial. The fact that security is being taken for money advanced is readily seen.

The house is one of the landmarks of Pittsburg—the last place in the world that any millionaire would be willing to allow to pass from his hands. Here in the somber three-story mansion on Fifth street Harry Thaw was born, and here in its great rooms he romped and played as a boy. Here Evelyn Nesbit passed and looked in wonder with her big, childish eyes when, as a little girl she was led by her mother to take her dancing lessons. The house was built by William Thaw in 1852, and was occupied by him until his death in 1889.

Met With Painful Accident.

Russell Hoffman of Madison, a young man employed at the paper mill in Lock Haven met with a painful accident the other day. In some manner three fingers and the thumb of his left hand were drawn into the callendar rolls and were crushed. In trying to release them with his right hand the thumb on that hand was also crushed. The injured man was taken to the Lock Haven hospital, where all the crushed members were amputated at the first joint.

PRIDE OF OUR TOWN

The Bellefonte Academy's Strong Foot Ball Team

SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

It is a Credit to the town to Have an Institution of this kind and it should be Encouraged by our Citizens

A GREAT GAME AT INDIANA NORMAL

The Bellefonte Academy stands at the top notch in the ranks of the preparatory schools in Pennsylvania. The school supports the best foot ball team of any institution of its kind in the state. It is an honor and we should pride ourselves in having with us this crowd of young men. The game at Indiana was an exciting one and we publish the same in full

All was excitement in Indiana on Monday over the foot ball game to be played between the strong Normal team of that town and the Bellefonte Academy elevey. The Academy had defeated the Normalites on the State College field three weeks before by the close score of one field goal or 4 points to nothing It was only natural for the Normal boys and their supporters to expect that the Bellefonte boys would be routed in the return game when played on the Indiana grounds. The interest in the game was so great that parties from "Kiski" and Punxsutawney, thirty-five miles distance went to Indiana and did all they could to help the Academy win a victory or at least prevent a defeat. The sports of Indiana were making jubilant predictions as to the outcome of the game, the commonest prediction being that "the Academy will be snowed under."

From the very beginning of the game the large crowd of spectators realized that it would take the hardest kind of boot ball on the part of the Indiana boys to save a defeat, as the Academy boys were putting up a winning game. Within three minutes after the start of the game, the Academy had the ball on Indiana's one yard line, but the almost fiendish resistance of the Indiana players prevented a score. Later in the game Pantell kicked a drop kick from the 50 yard line which struck the crossbar of the goal posts but bounded on the wrong side. He won rounds of applause for his almost successful trial. Every kind of modern foot ball plays were tried by both teams but after 55 minutes of play neither side scored. Such a score on strange grounds, morally speaking, was a victory for the Academy.

Fine Races at the Fair Grounds.

On Friday afternoon a fair sized crowd gathered at the Fair Grounds to witness the matinee races. It was a great event and enjoyed by everyone present.

In the Class A Race, "Baby K." owned by William Larimer was the winner, her time was 2.24. "Ash" was second, "Elk Land" third, and Major McKinley fourth.

Class B, was a match race for fifty dollars a side, and was won by "Ray M" owned by D. K. Weirman. Her time was 2.27. The most fun was in the Class C. Race between "M. G. B." and "Dick Herr," these horses belong to the Baum boys and as Dick wanted to be started by some one every time, it caused a great deal of amusement for the horsemen. "M. G. B." won the race.

Dr. Melvin Locke was the starter and filled the bill to perfection. He notified the horsemen that the people must be protected and he saw that they were protected. The gate receipts were not very large, but those who attended got a whole lot of pleasure out of the sport.

PRETTY WEDDING AT HOWARD.

Miss Marie Holmes Becomes the Wife of Prof. Joseph Weirick

On Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock Miss H. Marie Holmes the pretty and charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes of Howard, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Professor Joseph Weirick principal of the Howard public school.

The interior of the home was beautifully decorated for this happy affair with smilax, potted plants and autumn leaves.

At the appointed hour the beautiful strains of the Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Edna Wilson of Lock Haven began pealing throughout the home announcing the coming of the bride.

Rev. William Laurie D. D. LL. D. of the Presbyterian church said the words that united these two young lives for life.

The bride who was always considered one of the prettiest young ladies in the county wore a beautiful gown of Point de sprea over white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor was Miss Belle Holmes a charming young lady of Lock Haven, she wore a pretty gown of Point de sprea over maize silk and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthmums. The best man was Mr. Jessie T. Lesthers of Howard.

After the ceremony the bridal party and the sixty-four guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast after which a reception was held until two o'clock when the bride and groom left on an extended wedding tour to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Canada.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents such as silver, china ware, cut glass and linens.

Mrs. Weirick will make a splendid wife as she has always been a great home girl, having been born and raised on one of the largest and finest farms down Nittany Valley and she has always been closely associated with her mother in performing the household duties. She received an excellent education at some of the best ladies seminaries in the state. For all these good qualities we feel sure she will make a happy home.

Prof. Weirick is a splendid young fellow and holds a responsible position in the borough of Howard as Principal of the Public Schools. We know that he will make a good, kind husband.

This paper extends its heartiest congratulations to the happy pair and we hope a shadow will never cross their pathway.

A Birthday Celebrated

A very pleasant gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Musser, 207 Fifth avenue, at Altoona on Saturday evening, was the occasion of the celebration of the 81st birthday of Mr. F. E. Meek, Mrs. Musser's father, who is well and favorably known among the older citizens of Blair and Centre counties; his reputation as a sweet singer having endeared him to the last three generations.

A thoroughly delightful evening was spent in relating and listening to incidents and experiences of the long ago.

Among the guests was Mrs. Matilda Musser, whose wedding Mr. Meek and his wife attended in 1853. Although Mrs. Musser is now 74 years of age her vivacity and keens sense of humor render her as young in spirit as when she stood before the altar, a bride, fifty-four years ago.

In the course of the evening when everyone seemed full of good cheer, Mr. and Mrs. Musser conducted their guests to the dining room and seated them around the table, which was burdened with such a feast of good things that the only regret that anyone could have was that Father Meek's birthday could not come more frequently, without bringing any additional weight of years upon him.

Will Manage Bellefonte Office.

Miss Ada Welshans, a graduate of the Western Union Telegraph office in this city and who has been assisting Mrs. Ida Brown, the manager, left Monday morning for Bellefonte, where she will take charge of the Western Union office. Miss Welshans is ably qualified to fill the responsible position and will no doubt give the utmost satisfaction to the patrons of the Bellefonte office.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Locating Mrs. Porter.

.....By CARL WILLIAMS.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Jessie Morgan.

"Do you know," said Porter, with the air of a person who makes a great discovery, "I think I ought to get married."

For a moment Eda Kirby's heart stopped beating, but Porter continued in his easy, placid tones:

"You see, I am pretty comfortably fixed now, and it is high time I looked about me. I think I shall take a vacation and go to the mountains. I ought to find some one up there who should suit me well enough to be Mrs. Porter. And so I won't be around again. I leave tomorrow night."

He rose heavily to his feet, and Eda sprang to get his hat, forcing to her lips the smile that masked but poorly the quivering of her mouth. For three years she had loved John Porter. For nearly that length of time she had thought also that he loved her.

"Goodby and good luck," she said as he passed through the door. "You will let me know when your quest has succeeded, won't you?"

"To be sure," he agreed. "Take care of yourself and don't get sick."

He patted the slender hand that still lay within his own and turned to the stairs. Eda watched him past the next landing and then stepped into the apartment that had been her home ever since she had been forced to become a wage earner.

It was a tiny enough place, four small rooms opening off a hall the size of a soap box, but it was neat and homelike, and Porter loved to spend his evenings there when other distractions did not offer. He was always certain of finding Eda home and as regularly in good humor. He could not know at what cost she recruited at times her flagging energy that he might not see how hard the struggle was for her.

Now the cheery place seemed dark and lonesome, and, with a sobbing cry, she threw herself upon the sofa and gave vent to the grief within her soul. John Porter had never been a demonstrative man, but she had not dreamed that his calls were merely because he liked to spend a restful evening in her homelike apartment.

Now he had gone in search of a wife, and she should lead her life alone. Long ago the time for making new friends had passed.

Somehow during the next two weeks she managed to keep up her work while always the dull ache was in her heart and the soft color faded from her cheeks and the slender hands became more slender. Porter had not written. He never was much of a hand at letter writing, and she did not even know where he had gone. Then came the telegram that seemed to wring her heart afresh.

"Have discovered her," it ran. "Will be home this evening and will call to tell you about it."

So his quest had been successful. Eda signed the book and stood staring after the departing messenger, wondering what impulse had led her to tip the lad a quarter for bringing her bad news. Womanlike, she seldom tipped, but some impulse had led her to give the boy the money, and even in the first new access of her grief she had wondered at her liberality.

Late in the afternoon Eda roused herself to make the little flat presentable. It would probably be the last time that Porter would ever come. She could not receive calls from an engaged man. She wanted him to remember the place at its best.

It was a very inviting room that Porter entered that evening. The Morris chair was drawn close to the window, and his ash tray was beside it on the taboret. The shaded lamp sent out a soft glow that did not suggest heat, as did the gas, and Eda in her daintiest gown sat by the other window. Porter looked about him with pleasure.

"This seems like home," he sighed, "only I want a bigger place, this is so tiny. It's different from a hotel room even at a hotel where you are supposed to get the best. They can't make the rooms seem homelike."

"Where did you go?" she asked.

"All over," he replied, with a laugh.

"Surely you did not expect to find your ideal on the porch of the first place you registered," she suggested. "What is worth having is worth looking for."

"Don't I know?" he admitted. "The trouble is that you don't have to look hard enough sometimes. Then you are apt not to see it. I went to Glenville first. They have the athletic girl there. There was a golf tournament on, and every girl was walking about with a lot of sticks. Some of them were for hitting the ball, and the rest they called men, though they were mostly pretty poor apologies."

"The better chance for you," he reminded. Porter shook his head.

"I think," he said slowly, "that I could catalogue every variety of summer girl there is, and there are lots of them—about as many sorts of summer girls as there are girls."

"And which kind did you select?" she asked quietly.

"I went from there to Ridge Park," he went on, ignoring her question. "There was no golf there. It was mostly horseback riding. The women were rather more attractive, but I didn't like them, and I hit out for the seashore."

"And there you found a mermaid?" Her voice was light, but she gripped the arms of her chair nervously. She wanted to hear the worst at once. She wanted to get it over with. Then she could congratulate him, and he would go away and leave her alone.

"She's not a mermaid," he answered. "Somehow I never did fancy mermaids. They are rather moist companions, and, being part fish, they are apt to be cold blooded creatures. I did not find her on the shore. I found her up in my own room one night."

"In your room? Not a chambermaid?" cried Eda in horror.

Porter laughed. There was a boyish ring to the laugh that she had never heard before.

"She is not a chambermaid," he assured gravely. "I was all alone. It was one of those hot nights that come late in the season. I could not sleep, so I lighted a cigar and sat by the window watching the sea."

"Moonlight and solitude are dangerous," she reminded.

"Not always," he demurred. "I got to thinking over all the girls I had seen. There were girls all the way from sixteen to sixty—girls to suit every taste but mine. Then I got to thinking of how cool and pleasant it must be in these rooms of yours. Somehow you always manage to keep them cool and shady. Then I looked about the room I was sitting in and I got homesick for this."

"Or a home of your own like it," she corrected.

"That's it," he explained. "A home of my own like it instead of my bachelor apartments. Then all of a sudden I realized a great truth, and I found out what I wanted."

He waited for her query, but Eda was looking out across the green of the back yards, gleaming with a touch of silver in the moonlight. She did not turn her head as he rose and came toward her chair.

"I realized that it was you I had wanted all along," he said. "None of them was like you, and so none suited. We had been friends for so long that I did not realize how I loved you until I got away from you and missed you.

"I'm only a stupid, blundering man, Eda. I am more stupid even than most men. I have no right to expect that after all these years you will forgive my denseness, but don't you think that you can learn to love me, dear?"

"I knew that it was right to give that boy the money," she murmured. Porter puzzled at the words, but she drew his head down against her cheek and he did not care. He had found Mrs. Porter, and that was all sufficient.

Handshakes.

Says Sydney Smith: On meeting a young lady who had just entered the garden and shaking hands with her "I must," I said, "give you a lesson in shaking hands, I see. There is nothing more characteristic than shakes of the hand. I have classified them. Lister, when he was here, illustrated some of them. Ask Mrs. Sydney to show you his sketches of them when you go in.

"There is the high official—the body erect and a rapid, short shake near the chin. There is the mortmain—the flat hand introduced into your palm and hardly conscious of its contiguity; the digital—one finger held out, much used by the high clergy. There is the shaken rusticus, where your hand is seized in an iron grasp, betokening rude health, warm heart and distance from the metropolis, but producing a strong sense of relief on your part when you find your hand released and your fingers unbroken.

"The next to this is the retentive shake—one which, beginning with vigor, pauses, as it were, to take breath, but without relinquishing its prey, and before you are aware begins again, till you feel anxious as to the result and have no shake left in you. There are other varieties, but this is enough for one lesson."

Unnecessarily Polite.

A lady tells of an experience in a Buffalo street car. The car was empty, with the exception of one man, and he was the reverse of the car. As she entered he rose, made her an unsteady but magnificent bow, and said, "Madam, please be kind enough to accept thish plashe." Rather than offend the man, there was nothing else for her to do, so she thanked him and sat down, and for seven blocks he hung from the strap, swaying in the breeze, with not a soul in the car but the two.

The Scrap Book

The Same Fellow.

"Marie," said the young lady of the house to the maid, "I saw you kissing a young man in the dark hall this evening. I can't allow that."

"I saw you do the same thing, begging your pardon, ma'am."

"That was my fiance. That is perfectly proper."

"Then I'm all right. It was the same fellow."

SUCCESS.

The stoutest ship may breast the gale
And still be driven back.
What though to reach the port she fail,
Shall we declare she could not sail
Because she had to tack?

When storms belate and plagues impede,
When aches and ills betide,
Ambition's goal may not be won.
Yet hast thou bravely, nobly done
If thou hast bravely tried.

"He nobly does who nobly dares"
When trials sore oppress.
Whose perseverance naught can shake,
Though failure follows in his wake,
His failure is success.

The fiercest battles are to fight,
The strongest forts to scale.
Sometimes the bravest heroes fall,
Sometimes the truest lives of all
Are lived by ones who fail.

—Myron Hanford Veon.

A Chosen One.

Two little girls had a quarrel one day. "Anyhow," said one to the other, who was an adopted child, "your parents are not real," whereupon the other little girl retorted: "I don't care. My papa and mamma picked me out. Yours had to take you just as you came."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Vanquishing a Mob.

During a railroad strike a mob, led by two excited young fellows, raged unhindered for two hours, and much damage was done. Suddenly there appeared an angry and muscular woman with a club.

"Where's them two b'ys of mine?" she shrieked. She caught sight of the two leaders, made for them and landed resounding blows across their backs. "'Tis nice work for ye," she exclaimed, "out here tearin' up the tracks while I sit over a hot stove, kapin' dinner for ye! Come home now!"

They hesitated, but went, their mother after them with a club. The mob hooted, threw a few stones and broke up. A woman had vanquished it.

Would Take Another Look.

A southern lady left the cook arranging the dinner table and went to the kitchen for something. A great, hulking darky was sitting in the kitchen rocker. Indignant, the lady hurried back to the dining room.

"Cindy," she demanded, "what have I told you about having your beau in the kitchen?"

"Law', miss, he ain't no beau—he's nuffin but my brudder."

Somewhat mollified, the lady went back to the kitchen.

"So you are Cindy's brother?" she said kindly.

"Law bless yo' no, miss, I ain't no 'lation 'tall to her. I's jes' keepin' comp'ny wif her."

The lady, angry through and through, sought out Cindy again.

"Cindy," she asked sternly, "why did you tell me that that man was your brother? He says he is no relation to you."

Cindy looked aghast.

"Fo' de Lawd's sak, miss, did he say dat? Jes' yo' stay here a minute an' lemme go look ag'in!"—Everybody's.

Not a Common Person.

"Such a nice young man took me out to dinner last night—such a well mannered man," said one London factory girl to another. "When the coffee come and 'e poured it in 'is saucer, instead of blowing it like a common person 'e fanned it with 'is 'at!"

Her Little Game.

A Scotch couple were walking down one of the main thoroughfares of a city, and the husband noted the attention which other women obtained from passersby and remarked to his better half:

"Folks never look at you. I wish I had married some one better looking."

The woman tartly replied: "It's your fault. Do you think a man will stare at me when you're walking with me? You step behind and see whether men don't look at me."

The husband hung back about a dozen yards and was surprised to see every man his wife passed stare at her and even turn and look after her.

"Sure, lassie," he exclaimed as he rejoined her, "I was wrong! I'll never say aught about your looks again."

The wife had made a face at every man she met.

One Thing Worse.

Mark Twain once received a letter from his brother, who complained that he was afflicted with a boil and the jumping toothache at the same time and inquired if he had ever heard of a worse combination.

"No," wrote the sympathetic Mark, "and I can imagine only one that might be worse—that would be to have inflammatory rheumatism and St. Vitus' dance at the same time."—Lippincott's.

A Joke That Failed.

When Henry Norman, the English writer, who is now a member of parliament, came to this country several years ago he made a trip to Washington and was entertained by the National Press club.

Norman enjoyed himself hugely, but the newspaper men found he was slow in appreciating their jokes.

Two or three correspondents decided to try him out. Karl Decker was chosen as the spokesman. Decker took a little bell from one of the tables and walked over to Norman.

"Mr. Norman," he said, "I have been delegated by my fellow club members to say to you that we have thoroughly enjoyed your visit. We consider you a fine type of the English newspaper man. Before you go and as a testimonial of our friendship and esteem we have decided to present you a slight remembrance, and on behalf of the club I am instructed to give you this ring."

As Decker said "ring" he tapped the bell smartly and placed it on the table.

Norman was surprised. He hemmed and hawed a bit, but then pulled himself together and said: "Mr. Decker and the members of the National Press club, I can hardly find words to thank you. I have enjoyed my visit here greatly. I shall always cherish pleasant memories of Washington. I am overwhelmed at this evidence of your comradeship."

Norman went on like that for five minutes. He made a very clever little speech. Then he said: "I am pleased to receive your gift; but, as is only natural, I suppose, Mr. Decker, in the embarrassment of the moment, for we newspaper men are notoriously poor speakers, has given me a bell instead of a ring."

"Our Daily Bread."

Marjorie was enjoying with us a rare treat of real homemade bread which a neighbor had sent us, knowing that we never bake bread at our house, but depend upon the baker to supply our daily needs. We little realized the impression the delicious bread had made upon the little three-year-old girl until that night we overheard her saying her Lord's Prayer in this manner: "And give us this day our daily homemade bread!"—Lippincott's.

On Guard.

"I worked in St. Paul in my youth," said James J. Hill, "and they still tell there about an old farmer and his wife who started for St. Paul on a visit. Before the couple set off they were cautioned repeatedly by their friends to beware of the St. Paul sharpers.

"On the way the old farmer got off at a junction to buy some lunch, and the train went off without him. The last he saw of his wife she was craning out of the car window, shouting something reproachful at him which he couldn't hear. An express came along a few minutes later. The old farmer boarded the express and beat his wife to St. Paul by nearly an hour. He was waiting for her at the station when she arrived. He ran up to her and seized her valise.

"'Well, Jane,' he said, 'I'm glad to see ye again. I thought we was separated for good.'

"But the old lady jerked the valise from him indignantly.

"'No, you don't, Mr. Sharper!' she cried. 'I left my husband at the junction. Don't be comin' any of yer confidence tricks on me or I'll call a policeman.'"

Righteous Indignation.

"Well, how did you rest last night?" asked the landlady of the new boarder.

"I didn't rest much. I was troubled all night with insomnia."

"Sir, I have never heard such a complaint before in my twenty-two years as a housekeeper. I do not believe you, sir, and am willing to board you free if you find a single one in the bed."

The Lunatic's Idea.

A crazy man was at a grindstone sharpening a large knife, every now and then examining the edge to see if it was keen.

"What are you doing here?"

"Don't you see? Sharpening this big knife."

"Yes, but what are you going to do with it when sharpened?"

"Cut old Ben Brown's head off."

"What! You won't kill him, will you?"

"Oh, no! I'll only cut his head off and stick it right on again hind side before just to let the old fellow look back upon his past life. It would take him all the rest of his life to review."

Hooligan's Throat Trouble.

"Your ailment lies in the larynx, thorax and epiglottis," said the physician to Hooligan.

"Indade? An' me afther thinkin' th' trouble was only in me throat," was the reply.

Honors Were Easy.

"Woman is not only barbarous; she is illogical and inconsistent as well," remarked a man of letters. "I was walking in the country one day with a young woman. In a grove we came upon a boy about to shin up a tree. There was a nest in the tree, and from a certain angle it was possible to see in it three eggs.

"'You wicked little boy!' said my companion. 'Are you going up there to rob that nest?'

"'I am,' the boy replied.

"'How can you? Think how the mother will grieve over the loss of her egg.'

"'Oh, she won't care. She's up there in your hat.'"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Maximilian and "La Paloma."

Wherever that haunting air, "La Paloma," is played the memory of the Emperor Maximilian, shot by the Mexicans on June 19, 1837, should be preserved. Maximilian's final request was that "La Paloma" should be played while he stood up to meet his doom. He died with the tune in his ears, and his wife went mad with the shock of his execution.

Rebuck Dead From Wound Fired by Detective Rose.

Charles E. Rebuck, the man who Tuesday night of last week was shot in the Pennsylvania railroad yard at Renovo by Harry W. Rose, a lieutenant of the Pennsylvania railroad police force died in the Renovo Emergency hospital at 11.45 Wednesday morning. Rose was taken into custody by Chief of Police Foley of Renovo and brought to Lock Haven on the afternoon flyer. Wednesday night he was placed in the county jail to await the action of the coroner's jury which held a long session in Renovo Wednesday night.

A verdict of the jury was reached at 1 o'clock Thursday morning, which was out only 10 minutes before arriving at a conclusion. The verdict is that Rebuck came to his death from internal hemorrhages, caused by a gunshot wound, the shot having been fired by Harry W. Rose.

The inquest was conducted by Justice of the Peace Edward Kerr, his jury consisting of John W. Russell, foreman; John B Smyth, D. L. Saunders, Charles Albater, Philip Stout and Fred Lex.

William Keenan, the man who was with Rebuck, but was not apprehended was arrested by Detective Caldwell and held for a hearing on the charge of breaking into and entering a car.

The official railroad statement relative to the shooting is that as shipments of merchandise have recently been subject to the disposition of thieves, Renovo being a supposed base of operations, Detectives Rose and Caldwell were stationed at Renovo to work in the direction of apprehending the culprits. It was reported to them at about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening that the seal of a car of beer had been broken. They at once began a watch and noted the approach of Rebuck and Keenan, while Caldwell pursued Rebuck Keenan got away.

Caldwell captured Rebuck, starting up the railroad with him and being accompanied by Rose. Rebuck said he would go with them. They searched him and from one of his pockets took a bottle of beer bearing the label of the St. Mary's Brewing Co., which was the kind of beer in the car that had been entered. Rebuck, making a break, ran down the track under the cars and then back again, his return following the shooting. Caldwell did not know the man had been shot until the boroughs building in which is the Emergency hospital was reached. In defense of Rose it is said that he shot in the air to frighten, Rebuck and as he fired the third time he fell, this turning the course of the bullet so that it struck the fugitive.

Captain Vernes, Detectives Paris, Bathurst, Brittain and Caldwell were all on the grounds on Wednesday and worked hard on the car robbery case. They secured search warrants and went to Rebuck's house where in an outhouse they found a dozen bottles of the St. Mary's beer, a shovel and some overalls. The Keenan place was next searched and there beer was also found, of the kind that the broken car contained.

When it became noised abroad that the searchers had resulted in the finding of incriminating evidence there was great surprise, as both Rebuck and Keenan had been considered above suspicion. There is general sympathy for their families, and especially for the widow of the railroader who was killed.

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equaled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

State Commissioner Dixon.

State Health Commissioner Dr. Samuel G. Dixon has sent out a warning, which will be read with interest everywhere throughout the state, to the effect that school directors must see to it that the directors must see to it that the health laws are observed. Dr. Dixon says they will be rigidly enforced to the end of even cutting off the school appropriations, if used by the prosecution of truant and teachers." He cites the laws compelling directors to examine as to the sanitation in and about schools; to vaccination laws and the exemption of the colored people. He does not intend to give more warnings, but his first action will be to have the state appropriation withdrawn and the other penalties will follow so the report of the interview says: Directors should see that the laws are observed.

Your skin should be clear and bright if your liver is in normal condition. Kings Little Liver Pills act on the liver; and headache, constipation and biliousness disappear. Price 25 cents. Sold by Krumrines Drug Store.

A Lucky Hit.

By Martha Cobb Sanford.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

A man sat on the brow of a hill and kicked himself. Incidentally he was smoking a cigarette and watching the sunset.

Why, oh, why, had he ever thought that he needed absolute rest and quiet—that he didn't want ever to hear applause again or to look into people's faces? A solid week of this coveted solitude had made him "a sadder and a wiser man." What wouldn't he give this very moment for something to happen?

He jumped up suddenly. Something had happened, something very aggravating. As he stooped down to pick up the little green apple that had hit him square on the shoulder a boyish laugh rang out on the other side of a nearby fence.

He threw the apple back over the fence again and reversed his opinion on the value of absolute quiet.

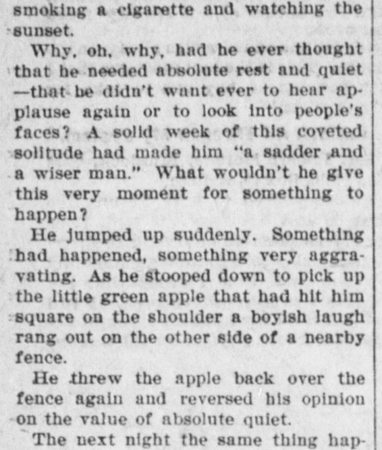
The next night the same thing happened, only this time when the apple roused him from his reverie the sun had been some time set and darkness and silence were stealing over the hill.

"I'll catch that kid this time," he said, jumping up.

With a run and a bound he made the fence and landed lightly on the other side face to face with a young fellow almost as tall as himself.

"Well, bless my soul!" he exclaimed. "I expected to find a kid. I was coming over to lick you."

"Forget it," returned the youth, leading the way to a seat under a luxuri-



"MY BROTHER WAS DETAINED IN TOWN."

ous grape arbor. "I've been watching you every night; thought perhaps you'd like company, so threw you an invitation."

"You struck it, or rather me, just right, young man. I do like company. What's your name?"

"Nix."

"That's easy to remember."

"Short for Nixon. What's yours?"

"Vin."

"What?"

"Vin—short for Vincent."

"Oh, I see." And the boy laughed merrily and slapped his knee.

"Boarding down at the farm?"

"Yes, and beastly tired of it. You live here all the year around?"

"Good gracious, no! Just staying a few weeks with my grandparents. Dead slow! You're the only civilized man I've seen since I got here."

A brief silence followed, in which Vincent struck a match and lighted a cigarette.

"Have one, Nix?"

"No, thanks."

"Too young, I s'pose. I contracted the habit long before I was your age, though."

"Oh, 'tisn't that," answered Nix carelessly, crossing one well shaped leg over the other. "But the grandparents, you know—they think it's a crime."

"They won't be out here, will they?"

"Oh, no. But I have to kiss 'em good night. I'm their son's only son, you see—the baby of the family."

Vincent laughed heartily at the boy's tone of disgust.

"Any pretty girls in the neighborhood?" he asked after a puff or two.

"You seen any?" returned Nix.

"Not one—more's the pity."

"You like 'em, then?"

"Bet your life! Don't you?"

"Oh, so-so. I get on better with fellows, though."

"You'll get over that," laughed Vincent. "But I must be going. It's nearly pitch dark, and I'll lose my way down to the farm."

"Coming up tomorrow night?"

"Sure thing! You won't have to waste any more green apples on me. Good night!"

One night a week or so later, in which time Vincent and his young friend had become great chums, the former proposed a fishing trip over the mountains, but Nixon shook his head listlessly.

"No hit, Vin," he replied. "Never could stand fishing. Gets your hands so messed up taking the flapping things off the hook."

Vincent looked at the boy's fastidious white hands and could hardly blame him.

"I'll take 'em off for you," urged Vincent. "Come on."

"No, thanks. Besides, I've got to go up to town tomorrow afternoon with grandmother."

"I've a good mind to go myself," said Vincent. "This country life's getting on my nerves. What train are you going on?"

"Give it up," answered the boy resignedly. "Grandmother changes her mind every five minutes. But you'll find country life all right after tonight, old man. I'm going to bring my sister back with me."

"Didn't know you had one, Nix. That's jolly. What's she like?"

"The freshest ever."

"Good! Is she pretty?"

"People tell her so. She pretends not to like it, but I bet she does."

"Introduce me the very first thing?"

"As soon as you like."

Then the boy sighed.

"What's the matter with you, Nix?"

"Oh, just thinking how it will be all over with me after she comes. I can see you falling in love with her now. What does it feel like, Vin, to be in love?"

"Tell you, my child, when I've been there."

"Oh, fudge! You've been there a dozen times."

"Honor, I haven't; thought I was sometimes, of course, just as you will, Nix, when all the girls begin to run after you."

"They never will," sighed Nix.

"Don't you believe it. Girls adore eyes like yours. Are your sister's eyes that same wonderful blue, and has she curly brown hair like yours?"

"Oh, quit it!" Nix replied petulantly and walked off toward the house in the darkness.

The next night, in order not to seem too eager, Vincent let the sun disappear and waited for the young moon to hang up her crescent before he took his usual way up the hill. He discarded the short cut over the fence and made a very proper entrance through the garden gate.

As he neared the grape arbor he could see the white folds of a woman's skirt, and his heart fluttered with anticipation.

"Mr. Vincent?" asked the young girl, standing hesitatingly at the other end of the arbor. "My brother was detained in town. He asked me to"—

"Nix, you witch, come here!" laughed Vincent, crushing the girl to him in all her freshness and kissing away her little gasps of expostulation.

"When did you find it out?" she managed to get breath enough to say at last.

"I knew it all the time," answered Vincent softly.

"Oh, oh!" exclaimed the girl and hid her hot cheeks in her hands. "How did you know it?"

"I had seen you in those charming boy's togs before, little actress, and recognized you the moment I jumped over the fence, though I could scarcely believe my eyes."

"You were at those theatricals?" gasped the girl. "Goodness gracious! You aren't John Vinton, the actor, are you, the one we girls rave over?"

"The very sa—I mean I'm John Vincent, the actor. But, honor bright, I didn't expect to find my own particular star"—

The girl gave him a reproachful look.

"I wonder why I didn't recognize you?" she asked.

"Probably," he answered laughingly, "because I'm not a lady on the stage. But tell me, dear, what made you play such a prank?"

"Well, you see, grandma" (here they both had to laugh) "wouldn't let me go out in the evening. So I used to pretend to go to bed early, and then I put on those clothes and climbed down over the shed and—oh, you know the rest!"

"But what made you throw the apples at me?" persisted Vincent, holding her little hands captive.

"Boys always throw apples at people," was her unexpected reply, "and you were the only man—I mean person—in sight."

"It was a lucky hit for me, dearest," commented her lover, drawing her close and kissing her boyish mouth again and again.

Curious Westmorland Custom.

A strange custom is observed yearly in the small hamlet of Week, in Westmorland, in commemoration of an incident that happened in the year 1841. That year there was a plague of wasps and many persons throughout the country succumbed to the poisonous sting. The little hamlet holds the record for its number of victims, and in memory of the occurrence a memorial tablet was erected on the moor there. Now each year there is a procession. Most of the inhabitants turn out, carrying insect powder and other devices for killing wasps, and march to the memorial stone, where a short service is held by the minister of the parish. When the service is over a general crusade is made in search of wasps' nests, which are immediately destroyed. Some carry guns, some rags saturated in turpentine, while others carry paraffin, which is poured into the nest and a match applied. The anniversary is considered the most important event of the year.—English Country Gentleman.

The Only Way.

"I am writing an article," he said, "on 'The Way to Manage a Woman.'"

"I suppose it will be a long one," she replied in a slightly scornful tone.

"No," he answered, "it will be quite short. In fact, it will consist of only two words—'Don't try!'"—Birmingham Post.

A Wasted Present.

"What in the world shall I send Aunt Betsy, John?" demanded the masterful lady of the mild little man.

"A workbasket or a book?" he suggested.

"Don't be a fool, John! You've no taste. I'll send her one of those fancy boxes of soap."

And she lifted to her nose a box containing six round tablets of perfumed soap.

"Yes," she continued, "this is the very thing!"

"But, my dear, really"— he protested.

"You be quiet, John! Now, wrap this up, miss!"

Two days later a packet arrived from Aunt Betsy, and in haste they opened it to see how she had taken their thoughtful present. Under the wrapping was the affectionate message:

"Niece—Herewith I return the box of shaving soap you sent me. I am too old to appreciate the joke of being regarded as a bearded lady. Your aunt, Betsy."

Then, but only for a moment, the mild little man smiled.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Dreadful Assault.

Justice Ball, an Irish judge, was noted for his amusing manifestations of ignorance, but whether they were real or pretended has never been clearly established. He tried a case in which a man was indicted for robbery at the house of a poor widow. The first witness was the young daughter of the widow, who identified the prisoner as the man who had entered the house and smashed her mother's chest.

"Do you say that the prisoner at the bar broke your mother's chest?" said the judge in astonishment.

"He did, my lord," answered the girl. "He jumped on it till he smashed it entirely."

The judge turned to the crown counsel and said: "How is this? Why is not the prisoner indicted for murder? If he smashed this poor woman's chest in the way the witness has described he must surely have killed her."

"But, my lord," said the counsel, "it was a wooden chest."—Cornhill Magazine.

The Buds.

Old Dr. Ryland, clergyman and educator, was greatly beloved in the south, and his visits were always enjoined by his former pupils and parishioners. In his later years it was his custom to offer prayer whenever he made a ministerial call. On one occasion he called at a house where three of his former pupils were staying. These ladies were all past the thirtieth year mark, but in the eyes of the old gentleman they were still girls, which explains the petition he offered:

"Lord, bless these dear girls, just budding into sweet womanhood."

This was too much for one of the number, who, taking advantage of the doctor's deafness, added this clause sotto voce: "Alas, Lord, budded, bloomed, faded and still unpicked!"

Got His Discount.

"The other day I was in a village general store," said a drummer, "endeavoring to make a sale of jewelry when a farmer entered.

"'Give me,' said the farmer, 'a half pound of tobacco, three bars of soap, five yards of blue baby ribbon and a pair of good suspenders.'

"The articles were brought forth, inspected, approved and wrapped up. They came to 95 cents.

"'Yes,' said the farmer, '95's right. But there's the discount. You advertise a 5 per cent discount, don't you?'

"'We do, sir,' said the clerk, 'but only on purchases of $1 or over.'

"On the counter lay a basket of pocket combs marked at 5 cents apiece.

"'Well, I'll just take one of these, said the farmer. 'That'll make us square.'"

A Stingy King.

In the beginning of the eighteenth century the now so powerful German empire was nothing more than the little kingdom of Prussia, having just dropped its title of duchy of Brandenburg. The country was very poor and the military discipline very harsh. Frederick William I. was hard, cross and stingy and did not even know what it was to make a present. His reputation was so widely spread that it became a byword to say that a man had worked for the king of Prussia when he had done an unprofitable task.

Holding His Own.

Scattered through the pine clad mountains of California live some grizzly old miners whose dry wit is often amusing. After many years' absence a certain gentleman returned to the little mountain town that had been his birthplace. The first person he met was an old miner who had known him as a boy.

"Howdy, Tom?" he said as he shook hands. "How've you been getting along all these years?"

The old fellow shifted his quid of tobacco, spat into the dust, then said in the habitual drawl, "Waal, I didn't have a darn cent when I come here forty year ago, an' I'm holdin' my own."—Judge Library.

Naturally.

Two men met at the gate of the cemetery, and each with excessive politeness bowed to the other to pass in before him. After a few minutes of this, when neither would give way, the younger of the two smiled and said:

"You are the elder of the two, so naturally you ought to go first."—Sourire.

The November American Magazine.

The November American Magazine is rich in importance and interest. Ida M. Tarbell tells another "He Knew Lincoln" story. Lincoln Steffens begins a new serial, "The Mote and the Beam; a Fact Novel." Prof. William James, the foremost psychologist of his time, writes of "The Powers of Men." He tells of the keys which unlock hidden energies and stir men to great achievements—such keys as love, anger, war, duty, the temperance "pledge," despair, crowd-contagion, Christian Science, conversion, prayer, and so on. Woods Hutchinson begins his new series on giants and dwarfs. The pictures are as good as going to a circus. Ernest Poole tells stories of the million new readers of the news who come to this country from abroad each year.

The fiction is notable. George Madden Martin tells another "Letitia" story. David Grayson has another "Adventure in Contentment." Venita Seibert begins a new series of child stories called "In a Different World." Mrs. L. H. Harris, John G. Neihardt, Isabella Howe Fiske, Annie Nettleton Bourne, E. J. Rath and Harry H. Kemp also contribute.

"The Interpreter" discusses "Religion Inside the Church and Out," beginning with the remarkable confession of a young Chicago non-church-goer, and proceeding to an eloquent defense of the church and the clergy.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

The Record in Bellefonte is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ill and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently. Bellefonté citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Mrs. Emma J. Davis of E. Logan St. Bellefonte, Pa. says; I have a great deal of confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills, and have already recommended them in a published testimonial in 1897. I told how I had been relieved of kidney complaint and backache which had kept me suffering for years. Doan's Kidney Pills did this for me when other remedies had failed. Whenever I feel any symptom of my old trouble I send to F. Potts Green's drug store for a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills and it never requires more than a few doses to get me right."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

EDITORIAL.

TO THE VOTERS AND TAX PAYER.

MY DEAR SIR:—

I am a candidate for the position of District Attorney of Centre County. I have had twenty-two years of experience at the Bar, and have devoted very much of this time to the criminal practice. It is a very important matter to the welfare of this county that criminals should be punished, the law maintained, and our people protected against crime.

For some time past very little has been done in our criminal courts except to spend your money and increase the burden of your taxation. If I am elected District Attorney I will give you a faithful and clean service, without politics and without graft. I will cut down your taxes by seeing to it that your money is not foolishly spent in enormous fees to detectives who accomplish nothing, and by refusing to bring two suits, and therefore imposing upon the county two sets of costs where one suit would meet the ends of justice.

There should be no politics in a county office, but every officer should attend to his own duties strictly according to the merits of the case. This is a matter that concerns you personally, and I therefore appeal to you personally, and respectfully solict your vote.

Very truly yours,
E. R. CHAMBERS

A vote for Col. Chambers will help elect a District Attorney that will convict the murderer of Josiah Dale.

If you want to see the murderer of Josiah Dale brought to Justice elect Col. Chambers District Attorney.

How many Commonwealth cases have been smuggled over that should have been tried? If you want to see fair play elect Col. Chambers District Attorney.

Col. Chambers has a clean record, he is a brillant attorney and has been very successful in his profession, he is the gentleman you should have for District Attorney.

Hayes Schenck the Republican candidate for Prothonitary is fully capable of filling this position. He is very oblinging and has always been held in the highest esteem and respect of his fellow citizens. Vote for him for Prothonatory.

If you vote for Sheatz you will be on the winning side, if you vote the other way you may have just as well have stayed away from the polls. He will be elected by a large majority and don't you forget it. Get in the big boat and sail along with us to victory.

SOUNDING A WARNING

Republicans Cautioned of Danger in Over-Confidence.

MUST GET OUT THE VOTE

Even a Reduction in the Majority Would Be Hailed as a Victory By the Enemies of the Party of Protection.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.

Predictions of a sweeping victory for the Republican party in Pennsylvania at next Tuesday's election are all based upon reports from the various counties that the rank and file of the organization is going to get out a large percentage of the Republican vote.

Much will depend, however, upon the activity of the party vigilantes, and warning messages are being sent out from Philadelphia headquarters to leave nothing undone to get Republicans to the polls.

While former independents are proclaiming their loyalty to the Republican nominee, the party leaders appreciate the danger that lurks in the feeling of security that exists among Republican committeemen. They realize that the Democrats are looking forward confidently to next year's national election and are going to poll a big vote to encourage the members of their party to line up for the coming presidential contest.

No State "Issues" This Year.

There have been absolutely no state "issues" developed by the present campaign in Pennsylvania.

Governor Stuart's administration, following the action of the Republican majority in the legislature, brought about indictments in the state capitol cases and removed that issue from the political canvass, and the record of John O. Sheatz in public and private life prevented criticism of the Republican candidate from the outset of the campaign.

Upon every hand, however, the political contest in this state has been regarded as the skirmish of next year's presidential battle, and Republicans familiar with the situation are concerned regarding the result of the balloting on Tuesday next.

They are fearful that a feeling of over-confidence will lead to a laxity among the party workers and that proper efforts will not be put forth to get the voters to the polls.

"If Pennsylvania is to take her proper place at the head of the procession of Republican states on Tuesday next," said Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee today, "the Republican voters must be alert. They must go to the polls and register their continued adherence to the principles and policies of the party, and by so doing emphasize the sentiment of their great state in favor of the party of progress and prosperity. The Democrats are going to put their best efforts into the work of getting their men out to vote, and in order that they may record one of their old-time ringing majorities, the Republicans must be wideawake and active from the hour of the opening of the polls until the last ballot shall be deposited. They must take nothing for granted, but act upon the principle that a battle is never won until it is over and the enemy is captured or routed.

"Pennsylvania is the greatest industrial state in the Union, and Democratic triumph, which a reduced Republican majority would mean, would be disastrous to wage earners and capitalists alike.

Must Not Falter.

"If Pennsylvania should falter on Tuesday next, the enemies of the protective tariff would have reason to be elated, and they would herald the result of the election as an indication that the so-called tariff reformers are growing in strength in our state, and that the 'Iowa idea' for a scaling down of the tariff is spreading even into Pennsylvania, the very citidal of protection.

"The consequence of such a state of affairs would be illustrated by a cessation of all industrial enterprises within our borders, with the inevitable result that the workingman and the farmers, the mechanics and the mill owners would in the end bear the brunt of the disaster.

"I sincerely trust that the Republican voters of Pennsylvania will not be deceived by those who affect to see no danger in Republican indifference, but that they will go to work at once and discharge their full duty to the party and to their state."

Call to Clubmen.

President R. P. Habgood, of the State League of Republican Clubs, supplementing the call to arms of Colonel Andrews, has issued an address in which, among other things, he says:

"This is not an off-year for Republicanism, it is, on the other hand, a vital one, and the majority recorded for the Hon. John O. Sheatz will serve as a glaring guide post to the Republicanism of the entire United States.

"A small majority will point to indifference on the part of the Keystone state to tariff revision and Republican national policies next year. A rousing, record-breaking and old-fashioned majority will be a bulwark to the policy of standing pat on the tariff and an inspiration to Republican success throughout the country next year, when we all earnestly hope to centre the eyes of our sister states upon Pennsylvania's candidate for the presidency."

A Reporter should be allowed in the Grand Jury room, just to see how many cases are smuggled over. If Col. Chambers is elected District Attorney he will bring your cases to focus.

Don't you think this man Wetzel has been County Surveyor long enough A change would do every one good. D. W. Pletcher the Republican candidate for this office is just as well, if not better qualified to fill this position than Wetzel. Give him your vote on Tuesday.

How does it come that the Automobile Accident Case between Ebey of Altoona and the Runkles of Centre Hall has not been tried? Of course our present District Attorney has friends on both sides of the fence, and he might lose a few votes—Col. Chambers would not have held this over from one Court to another—He is the man for District Attorney.

Do the people of lower Penns Valley remember about the fellow who got away with their harness, robes, sleighbells and many other articles to numerous to mention? Was this fellow brought to trial? Were these people protected? Who settled the case? Col. Chambers would have had justice dealt out to the fellow had he of been District Attorney. He is the man you should elect to this office next Tuesday.

Great Game Scheduled.

On November 18th the Bellefonte Academy will buck up against the strong "Kiski" on the Beaver field at State College. The Academy hopes to line up her strongest eleven on that date. In the game Saturday Bellefonte played without Davis and Lyon the quarter and best ground gainer on the team, respectively. Considering this fact the Academy did well. Below is a clipping from Pitusburg paper stating the strength of this strong "Kiski."

The fact that Kiski will play football in Pittsburg this fall is most pleasing to the local school circles Kiski holds the interscholastic football championship of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia. It has not played Pittsburg High school in two years, and its game with Shadyside Academy last fall at Saltsburg ended relations with that school.

There is not a local school in Kiski's class, but the leading players on local school teams desired to pick a team from various prep schools in this locality to measure strength with the preps from Saltsburg. Pittsburg High school, Shadyside Academy, Wilkins-High school, Allegheny High school, W. and J. Academy and other schools have players who would qualify for the team. Bob Patterson of Shadyside Academy will captain this star aggregation and John Frankel of Pittsburg High school is the manager.

It is the intention to pick the team immediately at the close of the annual High school Shadyside game, November 16th, which will be decided at Friendship park.

Unclaimed Letters

Mrs. Ida Allen, Samuel Bathurst, K. D. Bathelor, John B. Irvin, Chas. M. Kerr, Katherine Riorden, Burt Turner.

When called for please say advertised.

T. H. HARTER.

Woman is often referred to by man as "doubling his joys and having his sorrows." That may be complimentary but it would seem to be rather bad on the woman. For in plain terms it means that where things are going well with the man his wife makes them go better. But when things are going ill with him he expects the wife to share half his burden. And there's more truth than poetry in this presentation of masculine selfishness. Men don't appreciate the fact that the strain of motherhood alone is a burden bigger than all the loads that rest upon male shoulders. They see the wife grow thin, pale, nervous and worn without a thought that she is overburdened. Among the pleasant letters received by Dr. Pierce are those from husbands who have waked up before it was to late to the crushing burdens laid upon the wife, and in the search for help have found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a restorative which has given back to the mother the heath of the maiden and the maidens happiness. Favorite Prescription always helps, and almost always cures. It has perfectly cured ninety-eight out of every hundred women who have used it when afflicted with diseases peculiar to women.

GRANDPARENTS TELL ABOUT PE-RU-NA.

Catarrh Fifteen Years.

Mrs. S. A. Rogers, LeMoore, Cal., writes:

"I had chronic catarrh of fifteen years standing, and death seemed to stare me in the face. I tried several 'so-called' catarrh remedies, and without avail. I took fifteen bottles of Peruna and five bottles of Manalin, and I am completely cured. All the catarrhal symptoms are gone, my digestion is good, my appetite is good, and I rest well at night. I am seventy years of age and I hope to live many more years to praise Peruna to all my friends who suffer from catarrh as I did."

Rheumatism of Old Age.

Mrs. Caroline Trunk, 1705 Jefferson Ave., Peoria, Ill., writes:

"I had a very painful trouble for six years, consisting of rheumatism in the back and in the thigh. I used a great deal of medicine, but it did not help me. Then I used Dr. Hartman's Peruna, and two bottles of this entirely freed me of the rheumatism. I wish to keep both Peruna and Manalin always in the house. This is the best medicine that I can recommend any one to take for rheumatism."

Catarrh All Through My System.

Mr. Robert Metters, Murdock, Cass Co., Neb., Box 45, writes:

"I commenced to take Peruna the first of last February. I took it as nearly as possible according to directions. I also got a Peruna almanac and for the first time learned that my trouble was systemic catarrh. I had catarrh from my head all through my system. I took Peruna until I was entirely cured. I am eighty-three and a half years old, and feel as young as I did ten years ago.

"I visited recently among some old friends, who said I looked as young as I did twenty years ago. I thank you for your kindness to me, and hope you may live long to benefit suffering humanity."

Cough and Indigestion.

Thos. Beckwith, 11 Kitchell St., Auburn, N. Y., writes:

"I was troubled with a cough and indigestion. Thanks to your advice and Peruna I am in good health now. I was talking with an old friend last week. He told me he took Peruna last winter, and he is in the best of health, working every day and speaks highly of your medicine. I shall feel it my duty to recommend Peruna to all my friends."

"I believe Peruna is the best medicine in the world for all catarrhal diseases."—Mr. J. W. Palmer, 1416 Tower Ave, Superior, Wis.

A great many testimonials from people of high rank and people in the ordinary walks of life, are received every month. Catarrh in all its phases, catarrh of the different organs of the body; acute catarrh, chronic catarrh, catarrh that has baffled other remedies—all these are giving to Peruna unqualified and unsolicited endorsement.

YOU CAN HELP THE REPORTER.

The Ups and Downs in the Newspaper Business.

A newspaper is a thing which everybody in town knowns how to run except the editor. It is what should be an oven for "roasts" on everyone except himself, members of your family and a few of your particular friends, whom it should be a sweet scented boquet of praises.

It is a promoter of profanity if it is not on the front porch when you get down in the morning or home in the evening, and what you tell the man who works on it is not fit to go into a decent person's home.

If it is what the young man who borrows it from the saloon bar kicks about because there is only one sporting page and which the woman tells her neighbor when she takes it back is not worth subscribing for because it has but one page devoted to fashions and making current jam. It is what the merchant threatens to pull his ad. out of because he cannot have the run of the paper and what the old subscriber declares is going to the demnition bowwows because it is getting so that nothing but advertising can get a position in it any more.

It is what you want to see the editor to keep your name out of as soon as you have settled with the police justice on the morning after and to get your name into as soon as the cards are issued two weeks before.

It is what is just too horrid and inquisitive for anything, and "please keep my name out" when the reporter wishes to know about the bridge whist club and which is the mean old sheet that never gets anything right when your name is omitted from "among those present."

It is what no one ever forgets to condemn for its mistakes and never remembers to praise for the good it accomplishes.

It is a subsized organ when it fails to tell about the millionaire's wife running away with the coachman and a libelous yellow rag when it reports your police court trial for killing your neighbor's rooster. It is what is difficult to print so as to suit everybody and which would be nothing but several pages of blank white paper with a headline if it were published so as to suit everybody. We are in the business to tell what is going on in the town and we mean to publish to proceedings, good or bad, perhaps some things we may say will not altogether please our police, but we are sure the Good Law Abiding Citizens would be delighted to know.

"My friend, help the editor in his wide-eyed search for news. When your friends come to you, if you are not ashamed of it, tell him; when your wife gives a tea party, if you will have recovered from the effects of the gossip, drop in with the news; when a baby arrives, fill your pockets with cigars and call; if you go to a party, steal some of the good things and leave 'em with the item in our sanctum. If your wife licks you come in and let us see your scars and tender sympathy through the paper. If your mother-in-law has died, don't be bashful about it; give in all the commonplace news. In short, whatever makes you feel proud, sad, lonesome, or glad submit it to your twenty-four carat wisdom and see our matted lock part and stand up on end with gratitude, which will pour from every pore with moisture from a dew besprinkled earth."

State Found Lebanon Valley Eleven Easy.

Bellefonte, Pa., October 28th.—As is shown by the score Lebanon Valley was not even a good practice game on Saturday. In the second half the regulars were taken out and scrubs put in.

The features were Burns' runs of 60 and 40 yards around the end for touchdowns, Vorhis' 45-yard run for a touchdown and a field goal from the 30-yard line, while playing of the whole team was almost perfect. Line-up.

Snow Shoe.

Our borough is coming up slowly we are getting concrete walks and it is a whole lot better than the old board walks why didn't we think of it long ago. Piggy says it is soon time they are getting some thing to walk on as he got his cork leg fast more than once and he wishes they would put some good walks over in Patch town it wouldn't be more than right, he is going to have a special meeting with councilmen about walks.

DEATH OF GEO. CASHER.

We are sorry to say that we had another sad death in our little town, our friend George Casher died on Thursday and was buried on Saturday. The cause of his death was typhoid fever. He took sick some time in July, but several times he was very bad but owing to the good treatment that Dr. Young gave him he began to improve and was getting along nicely, but on last Saturday a week he ate some sweet potatoes which caused a rupture of the bowels, the attending physicion was called, and told him that he could not do any thing more for him and on Thursday death came. We sympathize with the bereaved ones, he will be sadly missed, but it is a road we all have to go sooner or later.

There was to be a dance up at the park last Friday night but owing to the death which we had, the dance was postponed, but there will be a dance in the near future. In not getting word out to Karthaus in time there was several loads came in to dance but were dissappointed but they couldn't expect a dance when there was such a gloom over our little town.

Squire Thompson says he don't know what they are doing that they don't let him know about his office. He says if he would of known that they were going to keep him out of office this long he would not of bought any book. He says before a man gets notice to serve, the term will be out. I don't blame Thompson a bit. They ought not keep a man in suspence all the time when he is entitled to it.

The funeral sermon of Mrs. C. H. Watson was preached by the Rev. Shugarts of Fairview and was certainly a fine sermon it went to the hearts of every body, there was not a dry eye in the church. His sermon was taken from the book of James, 6-14, his words were, "Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away. The Rev. Meridth offered a prayer which was one that will be remembered for some time. It was certainly a grand prayer, it was a prayer which made every body feel sad. The Rev. Shugarts broke down in his sermon, it was one of the saddest funeral sermon which was preached in the M. E. church for some time.

Our friend Thomas Dixon has been on the sick list the past few days with a very bad cold. Thomas is not looking very good. He wants to take care of himself, a bad cold is not very nice to have, take good care of yourself Tom if your cold turns into consumption you are doomed.

The wholesale store at Clarence run by T. B. Ruddinger changes hands on the first of the month. It goes into the hands of Chambers & Uzzle. Mr. Ruddinger has been there a long time. We wish Chambers and Uzzle good success in their business because they are both nice men, hard working and honest. They are liberal and will do any body a favor.

Little Nellie Daily has been on the sick list for a week or so with typhoid fever. She has been very bad but we hope that she will get along alright. Now the authorities should see that this disease does not spread any further.

Mrs. Wm. Hall purchased a new sewing maching last week from the agent and also Mrs. Shaw down in Patch Town purchased one. There will be some sewing done now.

Mrs. Joseph Wade who has been in the Lock Haven Hospital for some time is getting along nicely. We wish her speedy recovery.

Mr. Samuel Casher and family moved out to the Morgan place one day last week. He moved from Sandy Ridge here. He works at Kelly's Mines. Sam is a good worker and we wish him good success.

Several of the boys was out hunting last week but came back without any game. Jerry Crandell was out one night last week with Harry Leathers. They where hunting coons which proved a failure and on their way home their dogs got into a den of polecats and of course that ended the coon hunt. How about it Yank?

W. A. Sickel our druggist is getting the water put into his house. He says he likes to have the water handy.

Norman Casher has secured a job as chaffeur. That is he runs M. D. Kelley auto. He makes some fly trips to Clarence. The man that has an auto has to have a fat pocket book and a first class machinest as he can't run one. Give me the horse and buggy when winter comes you can't see the auto and then you fall back on the horse and buggy. Some of these days they will be wondering where T. B. is, they will find him and his conk-conk wagon up on a telephone pole between Snow Shoe and Clarence. Look out for the curves T. B. and also Bill Loflin's tomb stones.

Milesburg

Chester L. Boggs of Pittsburg Sundayed with his father and family.

Orville Proudfoot of Emporium, Arthur Proudfoot and family, Ira Proudfoot and wife, Mrs. Clarence Casselberry, of Salem, Ohio and Mrs. Klinger of Bellefonte were summoned home to attend the funeral of their sister Mrs. James Wallace last week.

Rev. A. C. Lathrope and family are visiting here, gave the Baptist congregation an excellent sermon on Sunday.

Rev. M. C. Piper knows knows a good cow when he sees one, last week he started with a $50, cow to his farm in Huntingdon, on his return home, he cast his eye on two more, pulling out his wallet paying $37 for one $35 for the other. He can preach also by stock for his farm.

Moshannon.

Miss Maime McCrackin of Grampian, is stopping a few days at the home of Simon Hazzard.

Wm. Quick, Jr. returned to his home here lately after an absence of several weeks in the vicinity of Hontzdale.

Mrs. Mattie Fye is seriously ill although hopes are entertained for her recovery.

The new Methodist minister Rev. Kelsey, arrived here Saturday, coming direct England. He preached his first sermon in America in the M. E. church on Sunday morning and was listened to by a large congregation.

Rev. H. J. Schucart of Altoona and the former pastor of the Methodist church at this place made a short call with some of his friends here last week.

The festival held in Groe's Hall Saturday night was well attended by the young people, all report having a pleasant time and say that the ones that don't attend such affairs, don't know the're living. The festival was held for the benefit of the Presbyterian church.

Miss Eva McGowan returned home this week after a short visit with friends at Newberry.

Miss Lola French has returned from a visit to LaSalle and Niagara Falls and will attend the grammar school this winter.

Hunting seems to be the main business now and by the great number of hunters who are coming in to rid the woods of the game which rightly belongs to this community, a person would think this was the only place on earth to hunt for the "cotten tails." An industrious man would be ashamed to tramp around day after day for the purpose of taking the life of the innocent bunnie.

Again our community was called to mourn the loss of one of her most industrious citizens, by the death of Jacob Lucas, who died Friday night and was buried on Monday afternoon. He was about fifty-seven years old and leaves to mourn for him, his wife two sons and seven daughters.

Millheim.

Farmers and others are busy husking corn. The crop is not a good one in many places, a great deal of unmatured corn.

Hunters do not find game very plenty, rabbits are small and birds scarce.

The town council has had a concrete walk put down at the town hall which was very much needed.

Charles Miller a native of this town, who moved to Seaonette some years ago moved back to town last week.

Some person or persons visited the cornfield of Perry Confer, and husked quite a lot of corn, these persons are unknown to Mr. Confer.

E. W. Allen of Williamsport shoe agent called on D. J. Neiman a few days ago.

W. G. Ulrich of Jeannette visited here for a week.

Stuart Keen who has been in different parts of the state returned last Friday.

John Flanigan of New York shipped a car load of horses to that city this week.

Irwin Smith, H. W. Frost and A. M. Harper of Smithtown, hunters, was in this section a day or two and found game very scarce.

Potato rot is bad with some people, particularly those that were taken out during the wet weather some weeks ago some lost nearly their whole crop.

The price for grain etc. at Millheim are wheat $1.00; corn old .80, new .50 to .65, oats .50, potatoes .50 to .60; butter .28; eggs .25.

Jacob Emerick and Michael Lamey, two veterans of the civil war, are on the sick list and have been for many weeks.

The price of fat hogs will be away up this butchering season.

Centre Hall

Prof. J. P. Smithgal, who taught our High School last year arrived in town last Monday to visit old acquaintances, particularly one of our fair maidens. He is teaching the High School of Austin in Potter county this term and took advantage of institute week to make this visit.

George W. Dunkle whose illness was mentioned in last week's issue has since answered the last roll call and has been mustered in by the Great Commander. He died at the home of his daughter Mrs. H. H. Herr in Elmira, N. Y. to whose home he moved on the ninth of last month from Center Hall. He was a member of Lock Haven post G. A. R., having lived in that city for a number of years after the war. He was aged 74 years, and leaves a wife, two sons and three daughters, also a sister Mrs. Nathanies Brown of Farmer's Mills.

The Jar of Coughing

Hammer blows, steadily applied, break the hardest rock. Coughing, day after day, jars and tears the throat and lungs until the healthy tissues give way. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops the coughing, and heals the torn membranes.

"I always keep Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. It gives perfect relief whenever any of us have coughs or hard colds. I have used it for a great many years and so know all about it."—MRS. MARY OBERTEAN, Varysburg, N. Y.

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

Byron Garis and Joshua Armstrong, having finished the masonry of the new tenant house E. M. Huyett is building on his farm near town will return this week to Siglerville, Mifflin Co. where they have considerable work awaiting them.

Fowler.

Geo. Burns from Guyer was making calls on his friends at this place.

Grandpa Laird spent a week with his son W. W. Laird.

Wm. Crust and son Charles of Perue was the guest of H. A. Geyer a few days.

Our farmers will get cold fingers husking corn.

Miss Alice Fink has gone to spend a few days with her son William.

Miss Alice Laird made a business trip to Tyrone.

M. C. Walk is entertaining guests from Altoona.

Miss Ruth Lego spent a few days in Tyrone with relatives.

Wesley Weaver is all smiles over the arrival of a son.

Eph Dodge is so pleasant you would not know him all because a little daughter came to his home.

GOOD WAY TO DO BUSINESS.

C. M. Parrish Sells Reliable Remedy at Half Price, and Guarantees a Cure.

When one can buy gold dollars for fifty cents, it is a good time to purchase.

In ordering a 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25 cents C. M. Parrish is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Bellefonte.

Even though offered at half price for introductory purposes, the specific is sold under a guaranteed to cure or the money will be refunded.

If food does not digest well, if there is gas or pain in the stomach, if the tongue is coated and the breath bad, if there is constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not you have druggist C. M. Parrish personal guarantee to return your money.

This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny granules, and be carried in the vest pocket or purse. It is very popular in New York City; and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of the large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific, knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a hearty meal.

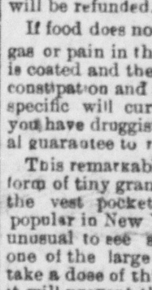
Dr. Howard's specific gives quick relief and makes permanent cures of constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles.

These are strong statement, but C. M. Parrish is giving his customers a chance to prove their truth at just half the regular price—sixty doses for 25 cents. If they are not found true, all you have to do is to ask for your money.

—Rheumatism is caused by the improper working of the kidneys. The uric acid which should be removed from the blood remains in it. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea removes the cause and drives it from the system. 35 cents, Tea and Tablets.—C. M. Parrish.

When your Watch Stops

You cannot make it go by shaking it.



When the bowels are constipated you can disturb them with cathartics but, like the watch, they will not be able to do their allotted work until they are put into proper condition to do it.

One cannot mend a delicate piece of mechanism by violent methods, and no machine made by man is as fine as the human body.

The use of pills, salts, castor-oil and strong cathartic medicines is the violent method. The use of the herb tonic laxative,

Lane's Family Medicine

is the method adopted by intelligent people.

Headache, backache, indigestion, constipation, skin diseases—all are benefited immediately by the use of this medicine.

Druggists sell it at 25c. and 50c.

To Be Promoted.

Washington, October 28.—The great battleship fleet, which is to make its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific, will probably be commanded by a Vice Admiral, and that officer is now Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans. Of course, this is conditional upon Congress giving its sanction to the proposal that will be made by the Executive to establish this new rank in the Navy.

The idea is not a new one, in fact, the President in his last annual message to Congress, as well as the Secretary of the Navy in his annual report have made a recommendation to this effect, but without securing the approval of Congress. Now, however, conditions are believed to be more favorable than ever before for the project.

Rear Admiral Evans is going to sail with one of the most powerful fleets ever gathered under the American flag. Not only that, he commands more battleships of modern type than any other naval officer in the world, and the only officer whose blue pennant floats over a more numerous fleet of warships is Lord Charles Beresford, and he is of even greater rank than a Vice Admiral being an Admiral, like Dewey.

On this cruise the American fleet is to touch in many foreign ports, and is to exchange courtesies with foreign fleets and in several places—in Brazil, in Chili, in Argentina, the American commander, supposing he is retaining his present title of Rear Admiral, would be outranked, for the navies of these countries contain officers of the grade of Vice Admiral, which would make the American commander's position humiliating.

It would be pointed out in Admiral Evan's case that he is not only by his remarkable service record entitled to this advancement, but any objections to the creation of the new grade that might be made in Congress, might be overcome by pointing to the fact that as Admiral Evans retires in August, the office will be of short duration.

The Scrap Book

Not In Her Class.

After preaching a sermon on the fate of the wicked an English clergyman met an old woman well known for her gossiping propensities, and he said to her: "My good dame, I hope my sermon has borne fruit. You heard what I said about the place where there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth?"

"Yes," she replied, "but as to that, if I 'as anything to say it be this, Let 'em gnash their teeth as has 'em—I ain't."

SCORN.

Who are the men that good men most despise?
Not they who, ill begot and spawned in shame,
Riot and rob and rot before men's eyes,
Who basely live and, dying, leave no name.
These are the piteous refuse of mankind.
Fatal the ascendant star when they were born,
Distort in body, starved in soul and mind.
Ah, not for them the good man's bitter scorn!
He only is the despicable one
Who lightly sells his honor as a shield
For fawning knaves to hide them from the sun.
Too nice for crime; yet, coward, he doth yield
For crime a shelter. Swift to paradise
The contrite thief, not Judas with his price!

—Richard Watson Gilder.

The handwriting of Dr. Buckley, the eminent Methodist divine, is almost illegible. On one occasion when he was to deliver a sermon on "Oats and Wild Oats" he sent an announcement thereof to one of the religious weeklies. Imagine his mingled chagrin and amusement when it appeared in print that he would preach on "Cats and Wild Cats."—Lippincott's.

Found a Better Place.

Once when I was going out to visit some friends I told George, my negro servant, to lock the house and put the key under a certain stone near the steps. He agreed to do so. It was late at night when I returned. I went to the stone under which the key was supposed to have been hidden. It was gone. I hunted around for about fifteen minutes, but still no key. Finally I went to George's house—he roomed outside—and rapped vigorously upon the door. A black head which I had no difficulty in recognizing as George's popped out of an upstairs window.

"Where did you put that key, you black rascal?" I roared.

"Oh, massa," answered George, "I found a better place for it!"—Mark Twain.

He Wanted the Secret.

A very aggressive crusade in favor of temperance was going on in a Scottish city, and a young philanthropist who had given large sums of money to help the cause, meeting a convert one afternoon, inquired how he was getting along.

"Ah, Robert," said the gentleman sadly, "I'm afraid you've been drinking again. I can smell it in your breath. Why not give it up altogether? You never smell the odor of liquor in my breath."

"No, sir; I never did. What d'ye dae for it?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Not Dangerous.

"An' how's yer wife, Pat?"

"Sure, she do be awful sick."

"Is ut dangerous she is?"

"No; she's too weak t' be dangerous anny more."

A Hitch In the Programme.

Senator Knox tells this story:

A delegation from Kansas visited President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. The president met them with coat and collar off, mopping his brow.

"Ah, gentlemen," he said, "dee-lighted to see you—dee-lighted! But I'm very busy putting in my hay just now. Come down to the barn with me, and we'll talk things over while I work."

Down to the barn hustled president and delegation.

Mr. Roosevelt seized a pitchfork and—but where was the hay?

"John!" shouted the president. "John! Where's all the hay?"

"Sorry, sir," came John's voice from the loft, "but I ain't had time to throw it back since you threw it up for yesterday's delegation."—Everybody's.

Provincialism Illustrated.

"You people out in Missouri," said a New York man to Congressman Champ Clark, "are all right, but you are too provincial."

"Provincial?" snorted Clark. "Provincial? Why, let me tell you, sir, the shoe is on the other foot. Nobody in New York knows anything about Missouri, but everybody in Missouri knows all about New York."

Lincoln and the Orange.

"I was eight years old when my father took me with him to Washington," says a man now prominent in national life. "It was during the darkest hours of the rebellion. We were walking on the street when a tall, thin man with very long legs and loose clothes and a frowning, wrinkled face came striding toward us. His eyes were fixed on the pavement. His lips were moving, and I remember thinking how cross he looked. But I was more interested in watching a ragged little urchin between us standing barefooted on the curb, his dirty hands clutched behind him, his lips twisting and his big eyes fixed on a pile of oranges in a vender's cart. The vender's back was turned while he made change for a customer. The tall man passed the boy at the same time we did. He stopped suddenly, plunged a hand into his pocket, bought a big orange, gave it to the boy and went on.

"The boy was grinning and had already set his teeth in the orange, much to my envy, when my father asked him if he knew who gave it to him. He shook his head.

"'That was President Lincoln, lad,' my father said. 'Hurry and thank him.'

"The boy ran, caught the flopping coat, and as the stern face turned sharply he called, 'Thank you, Mr. President Lincoln!'

"Suddenly the face was transformed as I have never seen a face since then. A beautiful smile covered it. A voice which thrills me yet said:

"'You're welcome, boy. You wanted to steal it while the fellow wasn't looking, didn't you? But you wouldn't because it wasn't honest. That's the right way. I wish some men I know were like you.'"

The Black Sea.

The Black sea differs in a most remarkable manner from other lakes and seas. A surface current flows continually from it into the Mediterranean and an undercurrent from the Mediterranean into the Black sea. The latter current is salt and, being heavier than the fresh water above it, becomes stagnant at the bottom. Being saturated with sulphureted hydrogen, this water will not maintain life, and so the Black sea contains no living thing below the depth of about a hundred fathoms. Its area is 168,500 square miles. It is 740 miles long, and its greatest width is 390 miles.

Desiring and Attaining.

Between desire and attaining, all human life flows on throughout. The wish is, in its nature, pain; the attainment soon begets satiety, the end was only apparent; possession takes away the charm, the wish, the need, presents itself under a new form when it does not; then follow desolateness, emptiness, ennui—against which the conflict is just as painful as against want. That wish and satisfaction should follow each other neither too quickly nor too slowly, reduces to the smallest amount the suffering which both occasion, and constitutes the happiest life.—Arthur Schopenhauer.

They Both Pitch.

Which is the greater marvel, the crack baseball pitcher or the circus man? The baseball star, to be sure, pitches a ball with wonderful facility, but the circus man pitches a tent.—Boston Globe.

Never Touched Him.

"I hate work," said Languid Lewis.

"I don't see why," rejoined Humble Harry. "It's a safe bet dat work never done youse no harm."—Chicago News

OPEN SECRETS.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken the many users of his medicines into his full confidence. Thus too he has absolutely and completely removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them REMEDIES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Dr Pierce's medicines are now in a class all by themselves—being absolutely and in every sense Non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this booklet it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, and with the use of specially designed chemical apparatus, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health.

The exact proportion of the several ingredients used in these medicines, as well as the working formula and peculiar processes, apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may not be infringed and trespassed upon by unprincipled imitators and those who may be piratically inclined.

Dr. John Fyfe, of Saugatuck, Conn., Editor of the Department of Therapeutics in THE ECLECTIC REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription: "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine."

"Helonias more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

"The following are among the leading indications for Helonias: Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys: menorrhagia, ("flooding") due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhea, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and an anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensation in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is rich in all the medical properties of Unicorn root, or Helonias.

Obliging D. D. D.

By M. M. CUNNINGHAM.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

Carman scowled as a tiny figure in brown linen scuttled across the lawn.

"Up to more mischief," he growled. "Just had one spanking and getting ready for another. I hope he gets it. It's a pity I can't give it to him. He'd remember it better than the hairbrush sessions he usually has."

Daniel Davenport Dudley slipped around a corner of the carriage house, and Will Carman resumed his book. The day was far too fine for reading, but his clothes were downstairs drying out, and one of Bob Dudley's dressing gowns was scarcely an appropriate costume for outdoor exercise.

He had run down to his partner's bungalow for the day only. He had wanted to make a base of operations against Ruth Emory, who was staying across the river at the Blessington's country place. Ruth was to leave tomorrow for Bar Harbor, and unless he spoke today there was small chance of winning her hand for another six months. Carman was no letter writer, and he could not hope to conduct an epistolary courtship.

"WON'T YOU PLEASE MARRY HIM SO I WON'T BE SPANKED?"

Helen Dudley, his partner's wife, had suggested the scheme of his running down ostensibly upon business just at the time that Dudley was going away. He might go over to Blessington's for want of better occupation, and the battle would be won.

But they had not counted upon D. D. D. That ingenuous six-year-old had spent the early morning in bridging with branches and sod the tiny stream that cut through the Dudley lawn. Carman had broken through the shaky bridge and had soaked himself to the knees. Mrs. Dudley had spanked D. D. D., but that did not dry damp trousers nor muddy boots, and now Carman was sitting in the guest room smoking Bob Dudley's cigars and softly cursing small boys and other fates that kept him from Miss Emory's side.

Presently he laid down the book as D. D. D. came around the corner of the carriage house again. The roof repairers had left some tar on the dirt heap, and in making up a ball of the sticky compound D. D. D. had smeared his clothes with the mess.

"Good!" commented Carman. "Now you will get spanking No. 2. Just wait until your mother sees you."

There was not long to wait. D. D. D. ran to the rear of the house, and presently a succession of wails announced that the youngster's condition had been discovered by his long suffering mother. Carman chuckled.

"Vengeance was swift, my boy You'll wind up on the gallows yet."

Carman was not ordinarily heartless, and, as a rule, he was fond of children, but the provocation had been great.

Mrs. Dudley tapped on his door, and Carman answered.

"Do you think," she asked, "it would hurt your boots to put them in the oven to dry? We had them in the sun, but they are drying very slowly. Here are your other clothes."

Carman decided in favor of the oven, anything to hurry the process. Perhaps, after all, he might be in time. He assumed his restored clothing and shuffled down to the porch in Bob Dudley's bath slippers. Carman was a six foot giant, while Dudley was small and dapper. There was nothing in the house that would fit Carman.

On the porch he chatted with his hostess and found it more pleasant to talk of Ruth than to sit in a room by himself and brood over his lost opportunity.

D. D. D. was playing at the other end of the piazza under the maternal eye. With the prospect of a speedy return of his footwear Carman even found it possible to smile upon the youngster mildly.

Then the servant came out bearing the boots, and as she neared Carman D. D. D. made a dive for the footwear.

"I want my tar," he exclaimed. "I hid it there when Norah ran after me."

Norah dropped the boots on Carman's stockinged feet, and, with a howl of dismay and pain, the latter picked them up. It was all too true. In the right boot were the dark stains that told how well the heat of the oven had spread the pitch. The shoes were ruined.

Mrs. Dudley was all concern, but it began to look as though all the fates were against Carman. There was not another pair of shoes about the place that approached his size. It was out of the question to send the girl to town. The chauffeur had driven the head of the house to the city and had not yet returned.

"It's all over," said Carman grimly. "I'll go to town in the morning in the auto. Until then it will have to be bath slippers for me, and I cannot very well propose in bath slippers.

"It is scarcely the costume of romance," said Mrs. Dudley.

"It is fate," he said resignedly. "Ruth Emory will never me mine."

"Perhaps it is not as bad as that. You might write, you know," comforted Mrs. Dudley, but Carman refused to be comforted. He knew how vainly he had tried to frame a letter that would sound unlike a business communication. It was only the prospect of her leaving that had moved him to speaking. Now the chance was lost, thanks to D. D. D.

That evening Carman sat on the porch looking across the water to where the lights betrayed the Blessington's place. Mrs. Dudley had promised to call on a sick friend, and Carman would not hear of her remaining at home. It was nearly 10 when a figure stole across the grass, and Carman rose from his chair.

"Look out for the pitfall," he warned. "Don't get in the brook."

"I won't," came the cheery reply, and Carman started. It was not Mrs. Dudley, but Ruth Emory who presently emerged from the gloom of the trees to offer her slim, cool hand.

"I thought that Helen was here," she said. "I paddled over to say goodby to her."

"She will be home presently," he said eagerly. "Won't you wait?"

Somehow, now that she was here, he had lost his courage again.

Ruth sat down and demanded an explanation of his warning, and he explained the device of D. D. D.

"And you have been cooped up here all day," she cried. "What a shame! It was a perfect day."

"Not for me," he said mournfully. "That little limb of Satan spoiled it for me."

"I ain't a limb of Satan," denied a sleepy voice from the low French window. "I am a good boy, only I am bad sometimes," he explained as he pattered out upon the piazza and climbed upon Ruth's lap. "I was bad today," he added. "I got tar in Mr. Carman's boots, and I got spanked because he couldn't come over and ask you to marry him. Won't you please marry him, so I won't be spanked?" he added. "I was spanked three times today."

"Won't you?" asked Carman softly. "I want you so, dear! When it seemed that I had lost my opportunity I was nearly crazy. It was fate that brought you over. I am not a good pleader. Won't you let D. D. D. plead for me?"

Miss Emory's eyes grew softly bright. She, too, had been afraid that perhaps the word that would mean so much to them both would never be spoken.

"I am a member of the Children's Aid society," she said, with a low laugh. "Perhaps for the sake of D. D. D. I had better say yes."

In a moment Carman's arms were about her, and he knelt beside her chair. Mrs. Dudley's first hint that all was well was gained as she rounded the porch from D. D. D.'s sleepy voice.

"Kiss me, too," he pleaded. And Mrs. Dudley smiled and went softly to the back door lest she disturb them.

Early Refrigeration.

The most ancient method of making ice is practiced in parts of India. Holes are made in the ground, dry straw is put at the bottom of these, and on it at the close of the day are placed pans of water which are left until the next morning, when the ice that is found within the pans is collected. This industry is carried on only in districts where the ground is dry and will readily absorb the vapor given off from the water in the pans. The freezing, of course, is due to the great amount of heat absorbed by the vapor in passing from its liquid to its gaseous form.

Another process was practiced in the day of ancient Rome, when the wealthy are said to have had their wines cooled by having the bottles placed in water into which saltpeter was thrown, the bottles being the while rotated.

Dr. Cullen in 1755 discovered that the evaporation of water could be facilitated by the removal of the pressure of the atmosphere and that by doing this water could be frozen. Nairn in 1777 discovered that sulphuric acid would absorb the vapor of water if placed in a second vessel separate from that containing the water, but connected with it. This discovery he put to use in 1810 by constructing an apparatus for absorbing the vapor of the water that it was desired to cool or freeze. This apparatus greatly facilitated the freezing operations of a vacuum freezing machine.

Well Qualified.

"So you want the position of advance agent for our circus?" interrogated the manager. "Well, we need a man who can stir up some life everywhere he goes."

"That's me, boss," hastened the applicant.

"Had any experience in stirring up life?"

"You bet. I used to drive a street sweeper and stirred up millions of germs every day."—Chicago News.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or to much food; people are inclined to over- indulge themselves". This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

CABINET MEETING

Matters of General Importance were Discussed.

FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Secretary Metcalf Advances a Proposition for $5,000,000 to Increase the Enlisted Force—Panama Canal Matters and Finances.

FIRST MEETING SINCE EARLY IN JUNE.

The first formal meeting of President Roosevelt's cabinet since the early part of June took place at Washington, October 25th. The accumulation of routine matters in the departments represented at the cabinet meeting necessitated a session which continued for two and a half hours. The finacial situation, naval affairs and other matters were discussed.

Secretary Metcalf has just completed the compilation of the estimates for the maintenance of the naval establishment, and as these show a great increase compared with the current fiscal year, thereby promising to cause much debate in Congress at the approaching session, the President and the Secretary of the Navy are giving their most earnest attention to them. The Secretary advanced a proposition to increase by $5,000,000 the standing appropriation for the pay of enlisted men in the navy. According to his estimate this increase would admit of the recruitment of about three thousand blue jackets in addition to the present force. The proposition was received with favor and will be included in the estimates to be submitted to Congress.

Another matter discussed was the recommendation of the Isthmian Canal commission looking to the widening of the locks on the Panama canal and this subject was discussed at some length. The President decided to await a detailed report from the Canal Commission upon this important subject and so the matter was laid aside for the present.

It is now quite certain that not less than two and probably three battleships of the first order will be recommended in the coming estimates to be made to Congress.

An Appropriation for the Monument.

Judge Orvis filed on Wednesday of last week a number of opinions and decrees which are as follows:

In the application for an appropriation of $5000 by the county to make final payments on the soldiers and sailors monument, which appropriation was approved by two successive grand juries, and to which approval exceptions were filed, the Court overrules the exceptions and approves the recommendations of the grand jury, as required by law.

In the petition of citizens of Miles township school district, (which in substance prayed that better facilities be provided for the transportation of the school children of the Harter school district, which school had been closed by the school board of the township because small number of children in the school, or to establish the school) the Court orders and directs the school board of Miles township to furnish better transportation for the school children, and gives the board until December term of court to arrange to carry out the suggestions contained in the opinion of the Court. If this is done, further proceedings will not be had. If not, the rule to show cause why the board should not be removed will be taken up at that time.

In the case of Z S. Welsh, vs. Harry Young, certiorari, proceedings of the justice, which were in favor of Young. Reversed.

In the two cases of Burdine Butler, plaintiff in error and defendant below vs. the commonwealth ex rel Ruben Lucas, defendant in error below, the exceptions were sustained and judgment reversed in both cases.

WERE OVEREXUBERANT.

Penn State Students Allow Their Enthusiasm to Get the Better of them Last Saturday Night.

Last Saturday was a red letter day for the students of Penn State. Enthusiasm run high and in order to get the result of the game by plays a special long distance 'phone was placed on the second story veranda of the Nittany Inn. The student body lined up 12 deep on the campus in front of the hotel where the movements of the teams were announced As State's good work was made known the lusty voices of the 1,150 students were raised in resounding cheers, and when the final result was announced pandemonium reigned.

Shortly after dark scouts were sent out and all the subfreshmen and freshmen rounded up. First came the cider feed by the subfreshmen to the sophomores. Three barrels of cider were "borrowed" for the occasion, but whether or not the owners had first been consulted has not been made public, but we opine that they had not, for one wagon brought in by underclassmen containing two barrels of apple juice and the pomace. The boys proceeded to make merry and some were so exuberant that they conceived the idea of doctoring the stuff, from the effects of which many funny stunts were indulged in by the imbibers. After the three barrels of cider had been consumed the members of the two classes were sent after "material" for a bonfire. The result was several loads of fencing, a carriage shed, three sections of boardwalks, an outhouse, telephone poles, railroad ties, barrels, boxes and waste lumber. After this had been piled some 30 feet and a portion of it saturated with gasoline, a match was applied. The flames shot up into the air about 100 feet and sent a shower of sparks careering over the campus just west of the Bright Angel. The mass of lumber burned for several hours.

While no one would deny the boys the right to give vent to their enthusiasm, yet the fact is deplored that in the exuberance of their spirits so much damage was done to private property. It has been estimated that over $500 worth of property had been destroyed last Saturday night. Be that as it may, the fact cannot be denied that the underclassmen, who were acting under "orders" from their so-called "superiors," did considerable damage that to an outsider appears to have been entirely uncalled for.

The dismantling of walks in front of the properties of I. S. Harvey, D. G. Meek and Charles Harrison was a case of cussedness, for the safety of pedestrians was endangered, for had someone made a false step it would have resulted in a broken limb.

Perhaps there is an idea prevalent that the college damage fund can be utilized for the payment of damage cases from the citizens. If that is the case, the sooner the idea is dismissed from their minds the better. That fund is for the protection of college property only and cannot be applied to the payment of claims lodged by citizens of State College who have been victims of college pracks. Personal property of the citizens of State College should be protected from damage by the students. The young men who were engaged in Saturday night's rampage would not stoop to such unmanly doings were they at home. They would have too much respect for their parents, neighbors and themselves. Such being the case, why not manifest that same degree of self-respect at college toward their fellow men? It is to be hoped that such antics will never again occur while Penn State exists. We cannot afford to besmirch the good name of the college. Every single student should so conduct himself while here that he need never fear a court of inquiry. The Time has always defended the students of the Pennsylvania State college and it certainly deplores the fact that it must voice the sentiment of outraged citizens at this time.—The State College Times.

Columbia Jail Life Too Easy.

The question of making the Columbia county jail a workhouse will before long engage the attention of the county commissioners, as the number of prisoners is increasing and something must be done to keep them employed.

As the jail is conducted at present it makes a delightful winter home for certain classes, who manage to spend the cold winter months of each year inside its warm and comfortable walls.

The commissioners have not yet decided on any plan, but say that before long they will make some arrangement whereby the prisoners will at least earn what they eat.

BISHOP OPPOSED TO REVIVALS

Strongly Against Efforts to Create an Ill-Balanced Emotionalism.

ONLY TEMPORARY GOOD

Religion to be a Power Must Touch Influence and Control the Entire Life, Secular and Religious.

365 HOLY WORKING DAYS IN A YEAR

In his Chautauqua address here Bishop John H. Vincent, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, attacked the evangelistic system of revivals now used in most of the churches of his denomination. He believes that revivals produce only temporary good, and that on account of the sensational methods used in so many of them the bad effect more than offsets the good.

The venerable bishop expressed himself and standing for "genuine evangelistic effort under discreet direction, but protests with emphasis against all sensational and spasmodic efforts to create an ill-balanced emotionalism and mere temporary devices for exciting enthusiasm." He went on to say that he stands for 365 days in a year of earnest religious endeavor. He gave as his motto "365 holy working days every year." Continuing, Bishop Vincent said:

"The week-day power of the church lies in the continuance through the week of the impulses and high motives of Sunday instructions, dreams and visions. It expresses itself in consistent every-day life in home teaching, example and unconscious influence; in business honesty and fidelity; in an enterprising, thoughtful, inspiring prayer meeting; in pastoral fidelity and visits of mercy, and in social good will by the private members of the church; in special classes for Biblical instruction and church training conducted by the pastor; in lectures scientific and literary; in biographical studies in course of home reading—all of which, under the direction of the church, will make the church a week-day power in the community.

"Religion to be a power must touch, influence and control the entire field of life, secular and religious. It is more than a Sunday function. Every day is a holy day. The church must learn that there are 365 days every year; 365 working days, 365 holy days, 365 holy working days. It is only by fifty-two actual Sundays of restful worship that we can truly keep 365 holy days a year in God's service."

The bishop also pleaded with the ministers "to stop sensational methods" in revival meetings, and deprecated the practice of having what are generally known as "testimony meetings" in revival services. He expressed the belief that people are interested more in the word of God itself than in personal narrative concerning it. His address created quite a sensation among the ministers at the Coantauqua grounds.

Woman Sure Bees Cure Rheumatism.

Having been cured of rheumatism by the stinging of a bee, a Delaware county woman has substituted a beehive for her medicine chest.

State Zoologist Surface, who first demonstrated that rheumatism may be cured by the sting of a bee, received a letter from this woman Monday morning telling how she had been cured. The woman, whose name Dr. Surface declines to disclose, states that her legs are entirely free from rheumatism since she has applied the bee sting remedy.

"Every time I wash," she says, "I am troubled for a few days afterward with rheumatism in my arms and shoulders. But I have found a way to overcome it. I have provided myself with a hive of bees, and after my week's washing I allow myself to be stung by the bees on the parts where I have the rheumatism. The effect is marvelous. The rheumatism goes almost as quickly as it comes."

After stating her case further, the woman asked Dr. Surface what he would suggest as a remedy for the pain caused by the bee sting. The doctor immediately wrote to her suggesting that she inoculate her arms and shoulders with a very low percentage of cocaine before allowing her bees to get busy.

He will give a demonstration of bee sting cure for rheumatism at the meeting of the National Beekeepers' association to be held in Harrisburg next week.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—If you can't boost, don't knock.

—This is no time for the crowker.

—The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kelley who has been quite ill, is much better today.

—Henry Haupt the tinner and his son Arthur are in Unionville, putting a tin tile on a church tower.

—My, we could write a splendid story from what occurred last evening, but we intend to let the law take its course.

—Too many young people depend on their father's money taking them through the world, and their mother's prayers making everything all right for the next.

—The Central Pennsylvania funeral director's association will hold its annual meeting in Johnstown on Thursday, November 7th.

—Dr. Brockerhoff has a crop of about three hundred bushels of fine apples on his farm east of Bellefonte, most of which are ready for market.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Naginey were poisoned by eating oysters recently, but fortunately not bad enough to render their condition serious.

—W. E. Tyson of Tyrone has been elected manager of the basket ball team in that place; a fact in itself which gives assurance of a strong team.

—Rev. A. M. Schmidt will give the last of his talks on Foreign Travels, Friday evening at 7.30 in the chapel of the Reformed church. His subject will be "Londonland the voyage home."

—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noll gave a reception at their home in Pleasant Gap on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Brooke. Mrs. Brooks is their eldest daughter and was married in Altoona last week.

—Eddie Thompson, (colored) has opened a shoe-shining parlor in the room next to C. W. Miller's cigarstore in Crider's stone building. As Eddie is not able to do hard work on account of his physical deformity, he is trying to make a living in this manner. Help him along.

—Miss Betty Heinle will shortly establish herself in a room in the Reynolds building for the purpose of teaching enunciation and physical culture, expression and voice. As she is very proficient in all the above we bespeak for her in advance great success in her work.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Katz are rejoicing over the arrival of a young daughter, Miss Katz arrived early Monday morning, long before Master Joseph was out of bed, now he will be the happiest fellow in Bellefonte because he has a little sister. Mrs. Katz and the little baby are getting along nicely.

—Thomas Faxon has sold his home on East High street and will move to Aaronsburg where he has purchased a hotel. Mr. Faxon has not been in the best of health and he hopes to recover the same by living in the country. We are very sorry to lose this good family from our town but we wish them success wherever they may go.

—J. F. Gearhart, of Philipsburg, was in Lancaster last week attending the Odd Fellows encampment and either had his pocket picked or else lost his pocketbook containing fifty dollars in cash, a check for ten dollars and a note for $2,500. He failed to find any trace of the missing property before returning home but on Friday he got a letter enclosing the check and the note, the thief or finder, whichever it was, keeping the fifty dollars in cash.

—A special meeting for men will be held at the Court House Sunday afternoon next, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The meeting will be addressed by John Feltwell, M. D. of Altoona and special music will be furnished by the Altoona male quartette and Christy Smith's orchestra. A thirty minute song and sacred concert will preceed the address. The quartette is a standing organization composed of four of the best paid choir singers of Altoona and the speaker is one who will certainly interest men. Every man should plan to attend this meeting.

—James Williams, who some time ago purchased the Potter-Hoy tin shop and moved the same to State College, on the 1st of November expects to move his family and household goods to that place. During their residence in Bellefonte Mr. and Mrs. Williams have made many friends who will be sincerely sorry to see them depart, but will take comfort from the fact that our little college town is not so far away but that we may hope to see them at least occasionally. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Everhart and family expect to move to the house on Lamb street, to be vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

—Confidence is still unshaken.

—Frank D. Houck, youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Houck who will be well remembered by Bellefonters, on Thursday of last week was elected president of the Independent Telephone Association of Pennsylvania at its convention in Harrisburg. Frank has been engaged in the telephone business a number of years and has come to be a man of considerable standing in the association.

—There is probably not a better farmer in Bald Eagle valley than Jerome B. Confer, on Marsh Creek. This year he has a field of corn which averages fourteen feet eight inches in height, with the ears nine feet from the ground. Of course it all had to be cut in order to husk it, as no ordinary man could reach the ears. Mr. Confer also has an unusually abundant crop of apples.

—Harry Otto has bought the barber shop of William Storm. He will have a large door cut in between his cigar store and the shop, and will manage both places. He has secured the services of Fern Showers one of the best tonsorial artists in the county who will look after the many customers in the barber shop. Mr. Otto is one of our most progressive business men and we feel sure this new venture will result successfully.

—The venerable William Fowler, who succeeded D. B. Kunes as postmaster at Blanchard, has been compelled to resign on account of his health not permitting him the continual close confinement. Milton Kunes, a son of William Kunes, has been appointed as Fowler's successor. He has just purchased the Berryhill building in the central part of of the town, will fit it up and expects to move the postoffice there about November 1.

—Peter Keichline has installed a dandy new acetylene lighting plant in his up to date green grocery on High street. The plant certainly makes a wonderful improvement in lighting up the store and gives the most complete satisfaction. It was manufactured by Colts and Company of New York City and was installed by the Schad plumbing establishment of Bellefonte. We congratulate our progressive merchant in establishing this system of lighting and feel sure it will not be necessary to use candles and lamps, and then the great difference in the cost of lighting is a big item.

—The Lutheran church of this place is now heated by steam from the town plant—last Sunday was the first trial and the audience room was reasonably comfortable from the heat thrown out by the two radiators connected with the town plant; two other radiators are in the same room ready to be connected with the steam pipes, making four, which no doubt, will furnish all the heat needed in the coldest weather. The Sabbath school room will also be connected with the steam heat plant. The old hot air furnace will be dispensed with, as it never met the required expectations.

The State is Paying for Primaries.

Centre county will not lose the money expended in the June primaries and all obligations incurred will be settled by the state. The officials at Harrisburg show a willingness to foot the bills.

Auditor General Young has already begun reimbursing the counties of Pennsylvania for the money they expended for the uniform primaries last June. Warrants have been issued for 30 counties and the remaining 37 counties will be paid as soon as their accounts have been audited.

The distribution of the fund, which was created by the recent legislature has been delayed by the lack of uniformity in the bills returned by the counties. Nearly all of the bills were excessive and were returned for correction.

In settling these accounts the auditor general has fixed a uniform rate of five cents a mile for mileage of judges of election making their returns to the county commissioners. Other expenses of the election were in printing and distribution of the ballots and the pay of the election officers.

The counties in whose favor warrants have been issued are: Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Butler, Cameron, Carbon, Center Clearfield, Clinton, Columbia, Elk, Fayette, Forest, Fulton, Huntingdon, Jefferson, Juniata, Lawrence, McKean, Montour, Pike, Snyder, Somerset, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Union, Warren, Wayne, Westmoreland and Wyoming.

Pending a decision by Attorney General Todd as to whether the appropriation made the last legislature for the payment of the expenses of the uniform primary elections the next two years can be used to pay the expenses of the winter primaries last January, the auditor general will not reimburse the counties for the money expended at that time.

He Denounces Club Women.

Altoona, Pa.—In an address to the Altoona Ministerium today Rev. D. P. Drawbaugh, pastor of the Fourth Lutheran church, denounces women's lodges and clubs, as follows:

"Among the most damnable influences on the home are women's secret societies through which mothers neglect their children by being out at night and leaving them in the hands of others, coming home at midnight and finding the children uncared for and unprayed for."

Bellefonte Walloped by the Kiski Eleven.

Saltsburg, Pa., October 28th.—Kiski easily defeated Bellefonte Academy here on Saturday, 29 to 0. The game was the fastest that has been seen here this year. Both teams played hard and showed themselves to be in excellent trim. Kiski proved itself the stronger on the offense and defense, holding Bellefonte for downs all but one during the game. Kiski used the forward pass little, gaining almost at will with its long end runs and terrible line bucks which Bellefonte was unable to stop.

Bellefonte worried Kiski only by its kicking which was wonderful, although failing to get a field goal in three tries. The first half opened with Kiski in possession of the ball which it carried down the field in quick order by end runs and line drives by Alexander. Fanker, McKean and Lytle. Stones then carried the ball over for Kiski's first touchdown, Lytle kicked goal. Kiski kicked off to Bellefonte, which was forced to kick, Kiski getting the ball then by forward pass and ends carried the ball to Academy's 30-yard line Kiski fumbled, but Smith captured the ball and covered the remaining 30 yards for touchdown. Lytle kicked goal.

Bellefonte received the ball on the kick-off and was forced to kick. Kiski then carried the ball up the field for third touchdown captured by Lytle. Bellefonte then made its first down, but was held when Kiski got the ball and captured the fourth touchdown by Fanker. Lytle kicked goal. The second half was more of a kicking game and Bellefonte threatened Kiski's goal three times, but was finally forced back where Kiski sent McKean through for its last touchdown. Line-up.

Girard College for Young Girls.

It was announced yesterday that the will of Robert N. Carson, a millionaire of Philadelphia, who died suddenly in a theatre in that city last week, provides for a $5,000,000 institution for orphan girls, patterned after Girard college, in that city, which is exclusively for boys. The bequest becomes effective after the death of the widow, Mrs. Frances Carson. The institution will be located at Flourtown, just over the city line, in Montgomery county.

The will is almost identical with that of Stephen Girard's who founded the largest college of its kind in the world. Like Girard's will, Mr. Carson's bequest provides that the institution shall not be controlled by any religious denominations and that no religious services shall be held in the institution that are peculiar or exclusive to any church.

The girls are to be carefully instructed in the fundamental doctrines of christianity and no clergymen of any sect is to be excluded from the grounds, but there is to be no proselyting reference to their own peculiar tenets or belief expressed before the pupils.

The management of the college is to be entrusted to a board of seven trustees who are to be appointed by the executors and trustees of the will.

The college will be open to all poor white girls, both of whose parents are dead. In the matter of admission, preference is to be given equally to girls born in the city of Philadelphia or Montgomery county, which adjoins this city. After that admissions are to be to those born in the state of Pennsylvania, and lastly to those born in the United States. The age of admission is between six and ten years, and of discharge from the college at eighteen or earlier if the trustees deem it for the best interest and advantage of the girls.

Will Meet in Bellefonte Next Year

At the twenty-sixth annual reunion of the Forty-ninth regiment Pennsylvania Vols., held in Huntingdon last Saturday, it was decided to hold the 1908 reunion in Bellefonte the third Saturday in October, or thereabouts. Seventy-five survivors of the regiment were present and the program included a parade in which two hundred members of the P. O. S. of A. joined. Two meetings were held in which a number of speeches were made. In the evening there was a banquet which was followed by a camp fire. Capt. James A. Quigley, of Blanchard, one of the surviving captains of the regiment; was elected president of the association for the ensuing year; Capt. J. Miles Green, of Milesburg, one of the vice-presidents; R. S. Westbrook, of Altoona, secretary, and O. S. Rumbarger, of Warrioremark, assistant secretary.

CHARLEY SCOTT IS DEAD.

The Young Base Ball Player Died in Allegheny

The sad news reached Bellefonte Thursday that Charley Scott who was well and favorably known by almost every one in the town, was dead. About ten days ago he took typhoid fever and was taken to the Allegheny hospital. At times he was much better and then he would grow worse again. The doctors and nurses did all in their power to save the young man's life, but to no avail, for his life passed into the other world on Wednesday evening.

Charley was born and raised in Bellefonte and was about 22 years of age, he was the son of the late William Scott. He was familiarly known among his associates as "Scotty." He was a splendid young fellow and because of his kind disposition and many other good qualities, he was well liked by all the fellows. And then he was a base ball player. He played in the big benefit game between the Professional and Business men of our town last summer, when over a hundred dollars was cleared for the Bellefonte hospital. Later in the summer he signed with Orvis and then with Winburne. When the season closed he went to Allegheny where his mother and sister now live and was employed as one of the instructors in the large skating rink in that city.

We are very sorry to hear of his death and extend to his mother and sister our deepest sympathy. He leaves to mourn his death, his mother Mrs. Lavena Scott one sister Miss Gertrude and two brothers Frank and Fred.

With the rain drops falling, the firing of the guns, the rolling of the drum and the sounding of taps, the late Charles Scott was consigned to his last resting place in the Union cemetery on Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

The body reached Bellefonte on the 9:30 train from Pittsburg and interment was made directly from the train. On account of the unclement weather the services at the grave conducted by Rev. J. Allison Platts D. D. pastor of the Presbyterian church, were very short.

As the deceased had been a member of Co. B 5th Regiment N. G. P., he was buried with honors of war according to regulation. A squad of soldiers under command of Sergeant William Allen met the body at the train and escorted the same to the cemetery. After the services conducted by Dr. Platts, three volleys were fired and taps were sounded, bidding farewell forever to a member of their company who was liked by all. The floral tribute was beautiful. The employees of the Cyclorama Roller Skating Rink sent a large wreath of roses and a pillow of lillies. Pittsburg Lamp Brass and Glass Company sent a large broken link of carnations, two casket bouquets by Miss Stella Hemberger and Miss Jennie Campbell. The casket bearers were the following friends of the deceased, Clarence Rine, Arthur Thomas, Ralph Mosebarger, William Rine, George Waite Jr. and John Kane.

Mrs. James G. Wallace.

Died Tuesday morning at 10 minutes after 4 o'clock at her home at Milesburg. She had been ill since January with diabetes, from which she had been quite a sufferer. Her maiden name was Miss Rose Proudfoot, daughter of Mrs. Mary Proudfoot, who also resides in Milesburg. On the 3rd of last July Mrs. Wallace was 24 years of age, thus she was a young lady just in the prime of life. She belonged to the Presbyterian church and was highly respected by those who knew her. She is survived by a husband and two sons: Robert Blair Wallace and Winfield Scott Wallace. She is also mourned by a mother and the following brothers and sisters: Oval Proudfoot of Emporium; Arthur and Ira Proudfoot, of Altoona; Robert Proudfoot, of California; Mrs. Bertha Klinger, of Bellefonte; and Mrs. Grace Castleberry, of Salem, Ohio. The funeral took place Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in Union cemetery, Bellefonte.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

November 10-17 will be observed by the Young Men's Christian Association of the world, as a week of prayer. Definite objects of prayer have been suggested by the Y. M. C. A. International committee for each day of this week of prayer. The local Association will not only observe the week but intends to hold a series of Sunday afternoon gospel meeting for men at the Court House during November. Several strong Evangelistic speakers from out of town together with some of our best local talent will be used for the Sunday meetings. A male choir will be prepared to render special selections and it is hoped that the strong Altoona male quartette will be present on one occasion. Christy Smith's orchestra has also consented to assist. In fact the program for each Sunday will be one that should be appreciated by a crowded Court House. The week night services at the Y. M. C. A. building during the week of prayer will be of a quieter nature, but should be well attended.
